Asks Court Hunt for Smith Records

ATTORNEY ACTS TO TRACE BOOKS ON SLUSH FUND

Press Inquiries on Cause of Death.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 10.—The Circuit court of Sangamon county tomorrow will be asked to step into the scramble of public officials and of political leaders for any of the documentary evidence of campaign fund irregularities that has survived the strange death yesterday of F. Lynden Smith.

Attorney Arthur M. Fitzgerald, counsel for the plaintiff, State Policeman Sylvester Steskal, in the injunction suit that has tied up the state administration's campaign slush fund, announced tonight that he will file a petition in the morning before Judge L. E. Stone asking the court to seize and impound Smith's private papers dealing with the Horner sponsored 2 per cent salary assessment on state employés.

Doubt Horner Knows of Death.

Meanwhile some of the officials supposedly close to Gov. Horner said they did not believe that the governor had been informed of Smith's death due to the condition of his health which has been carefully guarded for many months. These officials expressed this belief in spite of a statement of grief and sympathy which was issued from the governor's office on Saturday night.

Milton P. Akers, one of the Horner secretaries, declared, however, that he had personally discussed the Smith death with the governor and later had prepared and read the statement to Horner.

Other Developments of Day.

Other major developments of the day in the investigation of Smith's death were these:

1. One source hinted that Smith's records of campaign collections and distributions are intact in a safe of his Pontiac lumber company office. This hint was heard in spite of statements yesterday that Smith had burned a number of his personal records in the basement of his Springfield home last Wednesday.

2. There were reports that agents of the income division of the internal revenue department had joined in a scramble for the former campaign manager's documentary evidence.

3. Coroner W. L. Dragoo of Sangamon county learned that a woman's modesty delayed the futile attempt to revive Smith after he was found in the bathtub in his room at St. John's hospital here early yesterday morning. Whether the death was a suicide, which is considered most likely, or due to another cause, was still undetermined.

Hint from Opposing Faction.

The hint of the whereabouts of Smith's records came from a politician associated with the faction of the Democratic party fighting the clique surrounding Gov. Horner.

The possibility of a Pontiac hiding place fits into other known facts. After his open break with the Horner administration, which came when he said he believed the governor was too ill to seek reëlection, Smith removed his bulky personal files from his office here.

This was just before Smith went into political exile in Florida to remain until after the April 9 primaries. He said before he left he was putting his papers in a safe place. He could not have carried all of them in the locked tan leather brief case he took south with him. However, he could have taken them to Pontiac on a trip he made there on the eve of going south.

Hides on Floor of Auto.

On his return from Florida Monday night Smith was driven directly to Pontiac, which is about a hundred miles north of here. Then he was driven to his Springfield home, arriving here after midnight on Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday, Smith started to Pontiac, lying on the floor of his chauffeur driven car to keep from being seen. Halfway there the driver, Richard Simmons, colored,

HusbandPeeks In Hotel, Sees Wife; Kills Her

Kingsport, Tenn., March 10 [Special].—Charles Rice, Kingsport night club operator and a former hotel owner of Danville, Ill., rented a room last night next to the one in which he had been told his wife and another man were staying in a downtown hotel.

With his penknife he cut a hole in the connecting door. For a long time he watched what went on in the next room. Then he forced his way in, as the story was told to police by John Rhea, a Kingsport night club owner, who said Rice found him in the room. Rice's wife, the former Gladys Herriott, 26 years old, of Oxford, Ind., was in negligee.

Chat, Drink for 20 Minutes.

Drawing a gun, Rhea said, Rice declared he was going to shoot him. But Rhea and Mrs. Rice dissuaded him. The three chatted for 20 minutes and drank a toast.

The husband's anger seemed to fade. He smiled. He laughed. He said perhaps Rhea was not to blame. Then suddenly Rice pointed his gun at his wife, according to Rhea, and shot her dead.

Thought She Was in Florida.

They found Rice, who operated the Delmonico hotel in Danville from 1920 to 1926, in the room with Rhea. On the floor lay Mrs. Rice. Rice said:

"I left her in Florida when I came back to Kingsport a week ago. I thought she was still there until I was told this afternoon that she had come here. I found them together."

Rice was held on a murder charge.

Warn That Registration for Primary Closes Today

Today is the last day for registration before the April 9 primary election, officials of the board of election commissioners reminded voters yesterday. All persons who will be voting for the first time, who have not registered previously, or who have moved or changed their names, must register to be eligible to vote. Registrations will be accepted in 139 fire stations in the city and in the election board offices in the city hall up to 9 o'clock tonight.

326 OF 11,000 VOTE IN CLERK UNION POLL; ORGANIZER IS WINNER

Police stood guard yesterday as members of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association elected officers. Only 326 votes were cast, altho the union claims a membership of nearly 11,000.

Michael Pollack.

The election was held in the union offices on the sixth floor at 400 South State street. The entire slate indorsed by Max Caldwell, organizer and business agent, was elected. Caldwell was reelected without opposition. The others elected are Robert Krueger, president; Gerald Fields, vice president; Michael Pollack, recording secretary; Michael Savachka, financial secretary, and Morton Schaps, sergeant at arms.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's office protested the Caldwell management of the union to the American Federation of Labor, with which it is affiliated, and Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail is investigating complaints that union officials have conducted a campaign of intimidation to get members.

Pollack refused yesterday to disclose the exact number of dues paying union members. He said the union meets every month and its books are open to inspection by police or A. F. of L. officials.

THIS GIRL MUST BE PRETTY! READ THE ADJECTIVES

Chosen "Miss Alaska" at the Fairbanks ice carnival last night, the 20 year old Fairbanks secretary moved one newspaper man to cable Seattle the following description:

"She is beauteous, ravenlocked, flashing blackeyed, oliveskinned, Alaska-born, chosen after scrutinous test review in ski togs, evening dress, and bathing suits, 5 feet 4, 120 pounds, financially self-dependent, a distinct type of beauty rivaling the charms of Minnehaha."

Catches Horse by Hand After Machine Fails

The police of Evanston and Niles Center provided a comparative study of the art of rounding up runaway horses yesterday. It may safely be left to the reader to judge which has the more successful technique.

Snatch at Manes in Vain.

The Evanston police squad of Philip Midday and Kenneth Mountain snatched unsuccessfully at manes for a while, then communicated their troubles to Lieut. Arthur Sievers. He had an inspiration. It was to send over the squad car equipped with an amplifier with which jaywalkers are given a public bawling out in downtown Evanston.

Voice Gets Results.

This had no effect. Andrews' partner, Edward Klamm, experimented with a "whoa!" that could be heard for blocks. No go—or rather, no whoa. Then he tried "giddap." The horses complied. With the squad car behind them, they sprinted a mile and a half back to Elgin road and Central Park avenue in Niles Center, where the problem was turned over to the local constabulary.

Policeman Andrew Proesel of Niles Center, working on foot, took over the job. He did not have an amplifier, altho his shoes squeaked. All he did was sneak up on Mrs. Horse, seize her by the front hair, and lead her back to the stable. Sonny, naturally, tagged along. And Old Man Horse, deserted, began thinking of the feed bag, too, and trotted home.

How to Avoid Drowning: Just Hold Your Breath

El Centro, Cal., March 10 (AP).—Ten year old Peggy Wells, playing beside an irrigation ditch, slipped and fell in. The rushing water swept her thru a 64 foot tube. On the other side she climbed out, unhurt. "I just held my breath," she explained.

BRITISH WAYLAY SHIP OFF COAST OF PUERTO RICO

Germans Fire Vessel to Avoid Capture.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—Interception of the 5,600 ton German steamer Hannover by a British cruiser near Puerto Rico, in the strategic heart of the Pan-American neutrality zone, was announced tonight in a communique which said the Nazi vessel had been fired and abandoned by her crew to avoid capture.

The admiralty said the interception had taken place Thursday night in Mona channel, a 75 mile strip of water separating Puerto Rico from the Dominican Republic and a vital link in American plans for defense of the Panama canal.

The Hannover, loaded with 6,000 tons of ore and lumber, had sailed last Tuesday from Willemstad, Netherlands West Indies, in an attempt to run the British blockade. Willemstad is about 460 miles due south of Mona channel.

Hide Identity of Cruiser.

Only bare details of the incident were given by the admiralty and the name of the British cruiser was not disclosed.

On Jan. 15 Britain advised the Americas that she could not respect the Pan-American neutrality belt except under certain conditions, such as guarantees against the zone becoming a sanctuary from which German ships might venture forth.

Announcement of the Hannover's interception followed disclosure of the sinking of three more British vessels.

The 2,719 ton freighter Chevychase sank after an explosion in the North sea last night; the Maindy Hill, 1,918 tons, went down after a collision with an unidentified vessel early today, and the steamer Borthwick, 1,097 tons, was mined during the week-end off the Netherlands coast near Flushing. The crew members of all three ships were saved.

Land on Dominican Coast.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, March 10 (AP).—Sailors from a German merchantman, presumably the scuttled steamer Hannover, landed today on the eastern Dominican coast. A report that a second German ship had been seized by a British cruiser off Cape Engano on the east coast was being investigated. The name of the second ship was not given.

Torpedoed Off Portugal.

LISBON, Portugal, March 10 (AP).—A ship whose identity was not disclosed today was reported torpedoed 17 miles off the south coast of Portugal. Several survivors were reported approaching land near Faro.

It was at first thought the torpedoed vessel might be the Greek freighter Alexandros, 4,343 tons, which sent out a call for help. Portuguese naval sources, however, declared the Alexandros was adrift seven miles off Cape Saint Vincent as a result of engine trouble.

Nazis Claim Heavy Tanker Toll.

BERLIN, March 10 (AP).—The German high command asserted today that 10 per cent of Britain's tanker fleet had been destroyed in the war at sea. It placed Britain's loss at 32 tankers, aggregating 230,125 tons, out of a total of 46 enemy tankers and neutral tankers sunk on the way to England.

[British in comment said the German figures were exaggerated. An informed London source claimed that 19 British and 10 neutral tankers had been sunk up to March 2. Total British tankers in July, 1939, were given as 435 in addition to which there were 63 owned by British dominions and colonies.]

TURKS ASSAIL BRITISH SEIZURE OF U. S. GOODS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 10 (AP).—The Turkish press today sharply criticized the British contraband control for detaining part of the cargo of the American freighter Exhibitor which was consigned from the United States to Turkey. Newspapers declared iron and tin wares, which the British unloaded, were sorely needed by Turkey, which has a mutual assistance pact with Britain. The Exhibitor arrived in Istanbul without shipping papers, the British having retained these, too. Turkish authorities were unable, therefore, to give her clearance for unloading. The government appealed to the British ambassador in Ankara for quick settlement of the case.

WAR CURBS FETES ON CONFIRMATION DAY IN BERLIN

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 10.—While this was memorial day for the German soldier and his family, for numerous German families it was confirmation Sunday, on which the 12 to 14 year old son or daughter received blessings of the church.

The families who still cling to Christianity sought to make it a normal confirmation day for their children, but this was not easy. Tradition requires that the child be fitted with his or her first halfway grown up clothes for this day. It should be a dressy outfit, but when clothes are rationed one must reckon with necessities and pick what will last the longest and not necessarily prove the most decorative.

Dinners Feel the Pinch.

Confirmation day also used to unite the family—the grandparents, uncles, and aunts, godfathers, godmothers and cousins of all ages—around the coffee tables laden with cartwheel sized cakes, and later on an elaborate dinner would be served. Now there is no coffee. The cake one can buy is not really good. A family with children in their teens has enough trouble trying to satisfy their appetites, and therefore has no food rations to spare for the confirmation dinner.

When one passed bakeries in the middle class section of Berlin yesterday, dozens of big, impressive looking old fashioned German cakes and the fancy Sunday afternoon torten were on exhibit. Inquiry revealed they were for confirmation day.

$2.40 to Bake a Torte.

If the housewife gave the baker half a pound of butter and a pound of sugar saved out of the family rations, he baked a luscious looking torte for her. The price was 6 marks, or $2.40. Chocolate cake could not be had because of the lack of chocolate.

The buying of a present for a youngster being confirmed was a serious problem. A leather portfolio, one of the traditional presents, could not be had. Things made of substitute leather had to suffice.

New jewelry can be bought only if one turns in old gold or silver. Last minute presents such as a necktie or candy also are rationed, and as a result many relatives gave books.

Give Me Coal, a Boy Asks.

One lad asked his relatives to bring a small bag of coal for his gift. He figured the present would help his family warm an extra room for at least a few days. The shortage of coal continues serious in Berlin, increasing the number of cases of influenza and other diseases of the respiratory organs.

On the doors of small shops occasionally hang signs, "Closed because of illness." Numerous coal dealers do not open their stores because they have no coal.

Many of the boys and girls who were confirmed today had promised their pastors that they would return to complete their biblical instruction. Owing to the lack of coal, the Sunday school lessons had to be curtailed the same as those of the regular schools.

3 STORM FIRST IRISH WARSHIP; FLEE IN ROWBOAT

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 10 (AP).—Northern Ireland police joined Irish civic guards tonight in a search for three armed men who boarded Ireland's first warship, flung the deck guard overboard and escaped in a rowboat despite heavy firing. The men are alleged to have been terrorists of the Irish Republican army. The warship is the M1, a 50 knot torpedo boat. It is the first of six torpedo boats ordered from Britain for Ireland's coastal guard and is the first naval unit in the country's history. The Irish government declared no importance is attached to the incident.

British Movie Theater Fired.

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, March 10 (AP).—The 70 year old Londonderry opera house was damaged severely today by fire. Police suspect it was set by members of the extremist Irish Republican army. The opera house, now a moving picture theater, had been showing British news reels.

PREMIER AND 3 AIDS IN MOSCOW; GET RED TERMS

Soviet Radio Blast Hints Rejection.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 11 [Monday] (AP).—Fear that Russian-Finnish peace negotiations were failing spread in Finland early today after a Finnish language broadcast from Moscow violently attacked Premier Risto Ryti, now in the Russian capital as head of the Finnish delegation.

Premier Risto Ryti.

This attack came only a few hours after the Finnish government announced that Ryti and three other Finnish representatives were in Moscow discussing peace terms with soviet officials at the invitation of the soviet government.

It was regarded as especially significant that the nightly Moscow broadcast in the Finnish language had been kept off the air for two consecutive days when the negotiations were in their early stages.

Resume Bombings of Towns.

At the same time it was officially announced here that the Russian air force had resumed its bombing of civilian areas on a "comparatively large scale today."

Fighting was continuing all along the front, with the Finns reporting repulse of the Russian drives and great Russian losses, but admitting the Red army had penetrated to the west shore of Vilpuri bay and was attempting to consolidate its foothold there to take the city from the rear.

The Moscow broadcaster renewed appeals to the Finnish soldiers to stop fighting and to revolt against what was termed a "capitalistic government."

"Comrades, lay down your arms and join the Kuusinen people's army," the announcer urged.

Speaks of Puppet Régime.

He was referring to the Terijoki government of Otto Kuusinen, a communist, which soviet Russia has recognized heretofore as the only government of Finland.

The earlier Finnish announcement that a four-man delegation was in Moscow to negotiate peace terms burst upon the Finnish public with great suddenness.

Terms of the Russian proposals were not disclosed. A communique said that direct negotiations had been opened in Moscow to "find out whether possibilities exist for a cessation of hostilities and a restoration of peace," but that "no decision has been taken up to the present."

[Stockholm dispatches contained reports that Russia had offered Finland a new Karelian isthmus frontier which would leave Viipuri in Finland but put a large part of the Mannerheim line in Russian territory. Far northern Petsamo, it was reported, would remain Finnish, as would the port of Hango, on the southwestern tip of Finland, but the Russians would keep islands in the Gulf of Finland.]

Contact Arranged by Sweden.

The announcement of the Moscow parleys, which was attributed to the semiofficial Finnish news bureau, said that "this contact has been established thru mediation of the government of Sweden."

Observers here were quick to note that it was the first time Moscow had recognized the Finnish government formed under Premier Ryti in the early days of the war. Russia maintained before the League of Nations that the only legal government of Finland was the Terijoki régime.

No mention was made in the brief communique to tell when Premier Ryti and his delegation would return to Finland, but it was not considered likely they would remain away long. They left here Wednesday evening, the communique said.

Many Willing to Fight On.

Many Finns have expressed themselves as ready and anxious to fight it out for what they believe to be their rights. There has been no indication in Finland of a rising sentiment for a peace settlement which would given the Russians what they unsuccessfully had demanded.

There has been, however, a strong feeling that the rest of the world should do more to assist what Finns call the republic's "defense of civilization."

Moscow Broadcast Flays Helsingfors Premier.

Last night's communique was dropped with all the suddenness and surprise of a Russian bomb in Helsingfors, where the citizens, with their lives geared to war, heard three air raid alarms and spent many hours in bomb shelters, altho no planes were sighted over the city.

The Finns had announced, on Thursday, simply that Russia had "prepared" to submit demands more far-reaching than her original demands of last autumn, which, when rejected by Finland, were followed by the Russian invasion on Nov. 30.

Members of Delegation.

Besides Premier Ryti, the members of the delegation to Moscow were:

Gen. Karl Rudolf Walden, an old patriot famed for his refusal to be drafted into the army of the czar in the old days of Finnish subjection and now a permanent member of the Finnish defense council. He was one of the Finnish delegation that negotiated a peace with Russia in 1920, when Russia recognized Finnish independence.

Vaino Voipnmaa, a history professor as well as a member of parliament.

Juho Paasikivi, an experienced diplomat, and minister without portfolio in the Helsingfors government. When he was negotiating with the Russians last fall his official position was that of minister to Sweden.

PREMIER WARNS BELGIUM AGAINST SACRED CRUSADE

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 10 (AP).—Premier Hubert Pierlot warned in a speech at Mons today that "war in overcrowded Belgium would mean a total war, with every shot taking a victim." He added: "Don't listen to certain moralists or dangerous agitators eager to drag the country into a crusade of a sacred character which I cannot see. Beware of imprudent language and remain calm. One mistake might compromise six months' successful neutrality."

Finns Report Bitter Fighting

Captions on the map explain yesterday's developments in the war between Russia and Finland. Vertically shaded area is that which the Reds assert they have captured in the Karelian isthmus.

BITTER FIGHTING RAGES ON ICE OF BAY NEAR VIIPURI

Many Soviet Attackers Slain, Finns Claim.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 10 [Censored].—Desperate fighting continued today on the ice of Viipuri bay and at points on the Karelian isthmus and on the north Ladoga front while Prime Minister Risto Ryti and three other Finnish envoys sat in Moscow at the invitation of the soviet government, discussing peace terms.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that Ryti went to Moscow believing there was a possibility of achieving a peace which will be honorable for Finland and which will benefit Finland.

[Here 14 words were deleted by the censor.]

During the past four days there was a notable decrease in the soviet bombing raids on Finnish civilians, but today they were renewed on a large scale. An official report said "Villahti and Vonkola and other places in southern Finland were visited and a train was machine gunned between Helsingfors and Borga."

Hold Own at Viipuri.

In the intense fighting on many Finnish fronts the Finns are continuing to hold their own. North of Lake Ladoga another soviet division is in dire distress. The Finns are steadily wiping out isolated units and appropriating their wealth of war material which immediately is being put into action against other Russian units.

On the Kollaanjoki and Uomas fronts the Russians, who have been attacking for weeks were repulsed yesterday and Finnish positions are being improved daily.

Tho the Russians have strengthened their positions on the western shore of Viipuri bay, Finns asserted the foe has failed to make appreciable progress in attempts to surround Viipuri.

The Finnish air force was said to have "bombed and fired on" enemy troops and "groups and columns of tanks, trucks, and sledges observed on [the ice of] the Gulf of Finland."

Corpses Cover Ice of River.

On the Karelian isthmus near the center of the Mannerheim line Russian attacks were repulsed in day long fighting which left the ice of the Vuoksi river "covered with piles of corpses," the communique said.

"In the Paakkola and Pollakkala area of the isthmus strong enemy forces attacked with the object of crossing the River Vuoksi," the statement continued. "The artillery dispersed attacking enemy formations, and at those points where attacks had begun they were stopped by our infantry fire.

"At Taipale [the eastern end of the line] there was artillery fire and an enemy attack which was repulsed."

It was announced that Reserve Lieutenant Matt Vosikkinen, world famous Finnish gymnast, died in battle north of Lake Ladoga.

Reds Win Another Town.

MOSCOW, March 11, Monday (AP).—Russian troops occupied another island in the Bay of Viipuri and an additional town on the west shore in a continued flanking movement of the defenses of Viipuri, the soviet command reported today. The town of Nisalahti, only nine miles west of Viipuri, Finland's strategic Gulf of Finland port, was captured, the Russian command said in its regular communique, and the island of Varjesaari in Viipuri bay.

The island of Vupratsu, in Lake Ladoga, west of the town of Pitkaranta, also was captured.

Australia Calls Gen. White to Be Chief of General Staff

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 10.—Lieut. Gen. Sir Brudenell White, who was chief of the general staff of the Australian army in 1920-1923, today was recalled to that post. He succeeds Lieut. Gen. E. K. Squires, who died last week.

DRIVE ON SWEDEN FEARED IF PEACE MOVES COLLAPSE

Moscow Action Awaited in Stockholm.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 10 (AP).—Swedish diplomats, convinced they have done all in their power to promote peace between Finland and Russia, awaited the outcome of their efforts today amid growing fear that the war may spread swiftly thru Scandinavia unless it is ended abruptly.

Fear was expressed in some circles that Sweden's attempts to act as peacemaker might be offset by talk of military aid for Finland from the western powers, who were believed desirous of prolonging the war in their own interests.

It was generally assumed, however, that Finland had thoroly explored the possibility of obtaining such aid before embarking on the present peace negotiations with Moscow. Political quarters said Sweden had had no dealings with the western powers in regard to formal intervention.

Announcement in Helsingfors that a Finnish delegation, headed by Premier Risto Ryti, had reached Moscow, was taken here as an indication that the negotiations had reached an advanced stage and were being taken seriously by the Finns.

Meanwhile an expression of the nation's sympathy for Finland was voiced by a member of the royal family at funeral services for Lieut. Col. Maenus Dyrssen, who resigned his commission in Sweden's army to command Swedish volunteers in Finland. Col. Dyrssen was killed recently at the front.

"Finland's cause is our cause," Prince Gustav Adolf, son of Sweden's crown prince, said as he laid a wreath on the grave in the name of King Gustav.

WELLES ARRIVES IN LONDON BY AIR; MEETS HALIFAX

Escorted by Warplanes in Flight from France.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 10.—Undersecretary Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's dove of peace, winged his way into London today four minutes behind schedule by air from France.

J. P. Moffatt.

The career diplomat stepped from the special plane provided by the French government wearing a black bowler, striped trousers, and morning coat to shake hands with American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who arrived here on Thursday from the United States.

The mission was started off on an embarrassing foot when a young English newspaper woman, seeking an interview with Welles' gentleman's gentleman, barged thru the official cordon to get her story. Fully aware that butlers in Wodehouse novels wear what is known in Chicago as "iron hats," the reporter kept an eagle eye out for derbies. She let Welles pass unchallenged because he has become the most photographd man in Europe on his mission to find a basis for a sound and lasting peace in Europe, altho he prefers to call his expedition a fact finding mission.

Pounces on a Diplomat.

The young lady pounced on the only other derby clad member of the party, Jay Pierrepont Moffatt, another career diplomat, who heads the western European division of the state department. Moffatt blushed when he was asked if he were a gentleman's gentleman. The reporter finally was directed to the valet, who wore a soft gray hat, as did Hartwell Johnson, the third member of the mission.

Welles' plane was escorted by three French fighters and one British reconnaissance plane in its flight of an hour and a half. The flight was made with a blue haze hanging over the French fields and a mirror smooth English channel.

Welles was escorted to the Dorchester hotel, the home of Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax since the outbreak of the war. The two had an informal hour long conference soon after Welles' arrival at the hotel in Lord Halifax's suite.

In the swift ride to the hotel Welles found London much as it was before the war, except for sandbags, air raid precautions signs, and a few gas masks slung over the backs of adults and children.

Discovers the Blackout.

The night brought the full force of the war to the undersecretary. The blackout here is far more intense than in Berlin and Paris.

Welles was received here cordially but skeptically, as the British believe little hope for peace will come from his mission. Welles found the British anxious for an end to the war, but on their own terms. These do not include any compromise with Adolf Hitler's scheme to dominate middle Europe.

Tomorrow Welles will begin gathering facts here. He will see Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and may have an audience with King George VI. He will see other members of the government and opposition leaders during his three days here before he returns to Paris and goes on to Rome for another conference with Premier Mussolini and possibly Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister who now is in Rome.

Welles' suite in the Dorchester hotel is befitting a man traveling with a valet. It has a drawing room with steel blue walls, a bedroom of rose pink with concealed light, a bath, and a study with a desk so he can draw up his reports for President Roosevelt. The charge is about $22 a day.

VON RIBBENTROP TALKS TO DUCE ON FINNISH WAR

Discuss Effects of French, British Intervention.

ROME, March 10 (AP).—Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany conferred for an hour and a quarter today on what authoritative quarters indicated was the possibility of Britain and France sending troops to aid Finland in her conflict with soviet Russia.

Von Ribbentrop, who hurried here at an especially critical time in European affairs, went into conference with Il Duce at the Palazzo Venezia at 11 a. m., just one hour after his arrival from Berlin.

Italians close to the foreign ministry said that Von Ribbentrop did most of the talking. The diplomat was understood to have informed Mussolini of Germany's situation after six months of war and of Fuehrer Hitler's plans for further conduct of the war.

No Pressing Invitation.

Gianvanni Ansaldo wrote in Il Telegrafo, newspaper of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, that Von Ribbentrop was too wise to ask Premier Mussolini to change Italy's policy of nonbelligerency. Instead, said Ansaldo, the German would recognize Italy's "absolute liberty of action and decision," and refrain from anything that might seem to be a "pressing invitation."

A brief communique on the conference said only that the two men had a cordial talk and that they would meet again tomorrow.

Von Ribbentrop also will be received by Pope Pius tomorrow in a conference at which it was expected the subject of sending a papal envoy into the German occupied sections of Poland would be discussed. The Vatican disclosed that Von Ribbentrop requested the audience. He will be received with official honors.

Tension with British Eased.

Von Ribbentrop found tension between Italy and Britain suddenly eased as a result of Italy's agreement, announced yesterday, to refrain from bringing further shipments of German coal from Rotterdam, the Netherlands. This agreement was regarded in diplomatic circles as indication of an Italian desire to avoid trouble.

The chief topic of today's conference appeared to have been Scandinavia. Responsible Italians said that British and French aid to Finland thru Sweden and Norway would open a new war front in which both Germany and Russia soon would be fighting against the western powers.

Fascist newspapers gave more prominence to the coal settlement than to Von Ribbentrop's visit. With British-Italian tension eased, this problem was subordinated to others, at least pending receipt of London's reply to the Italian protest against the coal blockade.

Myron C. Taylor, president Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, had a 45 minute talk with Msgr. Giovanni Montini of the papal secretariat of state, today. It was assumed that Taylor sought information regarding the Von Ribbentrop visit.

BEATEN AND ROBBED BY GANG.

Peter Dombrowsky, 65 years old, 4635 South Richmond street, was beaten yesterday by five hoodlums in an alley near his home and robbed of $6 and his watch.

Hitler Sounds 'On to Victory' Cry at Rites for War Dead

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 10.—Surrounded by camouflaged artillery of the world war days and facing 200 youths wounded in the present conflict, Adolf Hitler today told the German nation that this war must end "with the most glorious victory of German history."

Hitler sounded a war cry of "on to victory" and repeatedly declared that this conflict "was forced on Germany by the capitalistic powerholders in France and England."

This was Germany's Memorial day and after his speech Hitler laid a wreath on the tomb of the nation's unknown soldier. The Fuehrer spoke in the large, unheated court of honor of the Berlin armory on Unter den Linden, in the heart of Berlin.

Streets Lined for Blocks.

Outside, the streets were lined for blocks with brown clad Storm Troopers standing shoulder to shoulder and thousands of civilians.

Hitler's speech, which lasted only 20 minutes, was one of the shortest he has ever made. His audience consisted of about 500 persons, all but a handful in uniform.

Among the few civilians was Sven Hdein, Swedish explorer who was reported to have come here last week to urge Hitler to assist in bringing peace in the Russo-Finnish war. As the military band played the Horst Wessel song at the conclusion of the speech, Hedin joined the Germans in extending his arm in the Nazi salute.

Wears Field Gray Uniform.

Hitler removed his light colored gloves as he began speaking but kept on his military cap and overcoat. He wore the field gray uniform he donned at the beginning of the war and which he said he would not remove until victory was assured. The German leader spoke quietly for the most part, only infrequently raising his voice.

"The world desires our dissolution," he said.

"Our only reply can be the greatest pledge of all times: On to victory.

"As Fuehrer of the nation, as chief of state, as supreme commander of the armed forces I live for but one task: Day and night to think of victory, struggle, work, and fight for victory, if necessary not to spare my own life in the conviction that this time Germany's future will be secured for centuries.

Appeals to Providence.

"May Providence permit us to conclude the last chapter of this struggle of nations honorably for the German people. This war, forced upon us, must turn out to be the most glorious victory in German history.

"For the first time the entire German people step into the presence of the Almighty to implore Him to bless its struggle for existence. Our large homeland has been cleansed of elements of disintegration and forces of disunion.

"No one has a right to honor heroes who is not of the same impulses and feeling as they.

"The western plutocracies declared the wildest war on and threatened the complete annihilation of National Socialist [Nazi] Germany because of her 'Volksgemeinschaft' [spirit of being a closely welded whole].

"As a National Socialist and soldier I hold it my highest duty to restore all rights to my people—by peaceful means if possible, in battle if necessary."

BRITISH SHIP WITH 200 ABOARD HITS ROCKS OFF CHINA

MANILA, March 11, Monday (AP).—The British steamer Ariadne Moller, with 200 passengers aboard, went aground off the coast of China at 2:30 a. m. today and sent an appeal for immediate assistance. The ship gave her position as latitude 27° 50' 15" north and longitude 120° 59' 30" east, which would place her off the coast of China just north of Formosa.

Passengers from the 1,850 ton ship were removed to rocks at 3 a. m., a message picked up by Globe Wireless said. The Japanese motorship Chichibu Maru acknowledged the Ariadne Moller's S O S but later messaged she was unable to get close to her because of the shallow water.

BRITAIN FEARFUL OF ISOLATION BY NAZI DIPLOMACY

Sees Hitler on Trail of Holy Week Peace.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 10.—While from a military standpoint the progress of the war is remaining static, British official circles admittedly are following with the greatest attention the diplomatic action in Moscow and Rome.

It is feared that Adolf Hitler is attempting to maneuver England and France into a position of isolation by first settling the Russo-Finnish war and then waiting for the favorable world spirit of Holy Week to bring all the neutrals of Europe into a combined organized demand that the difference between the empires and Germany be settled by negotiation.

Doubt War Strategy.

While so far there is no sign of England weakening in its determination to carry on the war, there is considerable doubt as to the strategy being used against Germany. Refusal of the Swedes and Norwegians to declare war against Russia or to become involved by allowing empire troops passage to Finland has disappointed hopes that the blockade might be tightened against Germany in that way.

Announcements from Ankara, Turkey, have indicated that Turkey is determined not to fight against Russia, a privilege granted under the terms of the mutual assistance agreements which the Turks have with both Britain and France.

It was hoped at first that the Turks would open the Dardanelles and Bosporus straits to empire warships so that oil from Russian fields destined for Germany might be seized while it was being shipped across the Black sea.

The Turks Refuse to Open Straits.

The Turks refused to open the strategic waterways. Then the possibility of destroying the Baku oil wells by airplane bombing was discussed. The final conclusion seems to be that whatever damage empire planes might do to Baku, the Russians certainly could match by similar action against the Mosul fields.

Since Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, virtually demanded that Belgium and Holland join the Franco-British cause, those countries more than ever seem determined to remain neutral. As a result the empires are unlikely to obtain either a battleground in those areas or the million and a half troops the low countries possess.

At the same time, the problem of getting at Germany from a military standpoint seemingly is even more hopeless than at the beginning of the war.

BRITAIN BEGINS RATIONING OF ITS MEAT TODAY

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—Meat rationing will become effective in Britain tomorrow. A decree will limit adults to 1 shilling 10 pence [36 cents] worth of meat weekly and children less than 6 years old to 11 pence [18 cents] worth.

The restrictions do not apply to poultry, game, kidneys, liver, sausage or cooked meats. It also will be possible to obtain meat in restaurants without ration tickets, altho the portions may be smaller than heretofore.

Rationing of bacon, butter, and sugar has been in effect since Jan. 8.

Northern Ireland, altho it produces more meat than it consumes, will be governed by the same restrictions as Britain.

3 Former G. O. P. Judges Seek Municipal Court Jobs

Following are the first of a series of sketches of candidates for judges of the Municipal court of Chicago to be nominated at the April 9 primary election:

EDWARD B. CASEY.

Edward B. Casey.

Dynamic is the word for Ed Casey. In 1931, at the age of 30, he was elected to the Municipal court for a one year term—the youngest man ever to sit on that bench. He was reelected for a full six year term in 1932, was defeated in 1938, and is now again seeking judgeship on the Republican ticket. He is backed by the organization of the late former Senator Charles S. Deneen.

Casey made his presence felt soon after he became a judge. He was an uncompromising foe of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, attacking Sonsteby's court budgets as grossly excessive and wasteful.

On another occasion he announced that marriages were too expensive and that he would marry couples free, adding certificates and cook books into the bargain. In 1936 he ran for chief justice against Sonsteby, but was beaten, altho the bar association indorsed him, as it always has.

Edward B. Casey, now 39 years old, was born in Denver, Colo. He was graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1924 and was admitted to the bar a few months later. He was a great admirer of the late Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach.

"Rockne taught me that the man who was willing to die fighting deserved little credit," Casey says, "but that the man who fought to live was great."

THEODORE F. EHLER.

Theodore F. Ehler.

Theodore F. Ehler, who was the Republican candidate for county judge in 1938 and is now seeking reëlection on the Republican ticket to the Municipal court, where he sat from 1920 to 1934, says he is no orator. But he is proud of his reputation as a listener.

"And what should a judge be but a listener?" Ehler asks.

For more than 56 years he has lived in the Englewood district. And his favorite form of exercise is walking from his home at 8004 Sangamon street to his law office at 719 West 63d street, and back home—five miles a day.

Ehler's office has invited the confidence of clients in the neighborhood for many years. It has two bookcases filled with worn law books, an old kneehole mahogany desk, and window shades that flap back and forth in the breeze.

Ehler, a silver haired man, is 62 years old. He was one of 11 children, the son of a German immigrant who brought him here at the age of 6. He studied law at the Chicago-Kent college, was admitted to the bar in 1901, and was an assistant corporation counsel in 1919 and 1920. He was elected to the Municipal court in 1920 to fill a vacancy and was reelected in 1922 and 1928. Mr. Ehler always has ranked high in bar association polls. He is married and has two children. His campaign has the support of the Deneen organization.

WILLIAM E. HELANDER.

William E. Helander.

William E. Helander's two proudest boasts are that he once shoveled 30 tons of coal a day and that a wounding and gassing during the world war couldn't keep him out of action long. Helander was a judge of the Municipal court from 1922 to 1934 and is again seeking one of those judgeships on the Republican ticket. He is on a slate put up by adherents of the late former Senator Charles S. Deneen.

"When I was a student at Englewood High school and at Northwestern university I had time to work every day," Helander says. "I helped my father in his coal business, and I recall the day I shoveled 30 tons and hiked it into basements, too."

Helander enlisted in the marine corps when the United States entered the war. He was a second lieutenant and was wounded and gassed at Verdun. That kept him out for five months, but at the end of that time he joined the air service intelligence school.

The former judge is 51 years old. He was born in Chicago and was admitted to the bar in 1911. He was an assistant to the Probate judge from 1920 to 1922, when he went on the Municipal bench, being reëlected in 1928. He was a candidate for county judge in 1930 and in all his campaigns received bar association indorsement. Helander is married, has three sons, and lives at 7944 Langley avenue.

TURKS POUR CASH INTO DEFENSES, BUT SEEK PEACE

Say First Blow Must Be Russia's.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, March 10.—Turkey is spending two out of every three dollars it receives to bolster its defenses. It has appropriated $220,000,000 for defense this year, while spending only $141,000,000 for all other undertakings.

British and French air force chiefs are here to confer with the supreme council of national defense, but while Turkey is developing every defensive resource the consultations will not alter the fact that the Turks are determined to remain out of the war unless their country is attacked.

War Here Needs Planes.

The visit of Gen. Sir William Mitchell of Great Britain and Gen. Jennaud of France is regarded as having special importance because in any war in this mountainous region aviation must play a leading rôle.

The idea of a Turkish offensive in the Caucasus this spring seems fantastic here despite the seriousness with which it is discussed in foreign capitals. If war develops, the Russians will have to make the first move.

Turkey's relations with Russia still are good, but the Turks are suspicious as a result of the Russo-German pact and the Finnish campaign.

About 350,000 men are under arms in Turkey and about half of them are stationed along the Russian frontier.

Six forbidden zones are closed to foreigners except under military escort, which makes it impossible to see anything of significance.

Russia Has Its Friends.

Some Turks are resentful of the undisguised French and British hopes that the country will fight beside the empires. They point out that the Russians were their first allies and showed sympathy for Turkish nationalists when the British and French actually were fighting them. Tho they fear Russian aspirations, they do not want to fight the Russians. Turkey would jump into the war instantly if Rumania were attacked, these sources believe, because it is felt that such a move would be merely the first step in a campaign that would include Turkey.

Frontier Zones Watched.

One Turkish official said Turkey will fight only in self-defense, but that any attack on a Balkan country, or on Iran, Iraq, or Afghanistan, would be considered a blow at its frontier zones and force it to go to war.

Last month Turkey passed special defense laws, including forced labor in coal mines. The move to supply coal mine labor was made because of a shortage of workers.

Reports that the British and French have demanded the right to send warships into the Black sea in violation of the Montreaux pact are described as ridiculous.

FORMER G. A. R. CHIEF DIES.

FRANCE WORRIED BY RIBBENTROP'S ACTIVITY IN ROME

Some See Welles Joining in Peace Effort There.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 10.—The French today began to take stock of Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' three day visit to Paris, but as a matter of fact the American peace pilgrimage was overshadowed by the presence in Rome of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister. Most French observers tonight were speculating on whether there was any connection between the two events.

Welles, now in London, is expected back in Paris on Thursday for a few hours' sojourn before he departs for a final interview with Premier Mussolini in Rome on his way home.

Question His Calling List.

The French today had very little to say about the economic memorandum which Welles gave to Finance Minister Paul Reynaud during their talk yesterday. The memorandum outlined the Roosevelt administration's idea of how a sound basis for commercial exchanges might be laid after the war. They said somewhat vaguely that they were in agreement with it.

But today after Welles left town criticism was expressed of some of the personalities the American visitor chose to see here. Some of the newspapers said that Welles was gathering facts, of course, but that he chose to interview several people who "are considered to have a reputation for making grave mistakes."

Plenty to Worry About.

Another plaint heard today was the fact that American Ambassador William C. Bullitt was not in Paris during Welles' visit. He is in the United States.

The French are frankly anxious about what is going on in Rome.

They were especially dismayed about Von Ribbentrop's audience tomorrow with Pope Pius XII, and there was the impression that the French foreign office fears that some important general German peace maneuver is imminent in connection with the Russo-Finnish talks.

What they are anxious about is the part Welles might possibly have in such a proceeding when he arrives back in Rome next Friday for three days more in Mussolini's capital, when Von Ribbentrop still may be there.

NEWEST FIGHTING PLANES MAY BE SOLD TO EMPIRES

Army Weighs Release of 400 M. P. H. Craft.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 10 (AP).—The war department, it was reported authoritatively today, is considering the release of one of its latest model, 400 mile an hour fighting planes for sale to France and Great Britain.

Aircraft trade circles heard that the plane is the Curtiss P-40, which the French especially have sought since the P-37, an earlier and slower model of the same type pursuit plane bought by the hundreds, demonstrated its worth in actual combat.

Ordered less than a year ago, the first P-40 fighters are only now being completed for the army air corps, which must approve foreign sales. Under war department official policy, willingness to permit foreign governments to buy would mean an even more promising craft was ready for production.

Congress on Watch.

The report on the P-40 circulated at a time when there were increasing signs of watchfulness in congress for administration favoritism for France and Britain. Wariness lest the administration favor the allies at the expense of American air defenses was evidenced last week by the insistent questioning of Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, air corps chief, behind closed doors of the house military and military appropriations subcommittees.

The latter group, it was learned, likewise questioned Maj. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, quartermaster general. He is the army's representative on the official committee set up by President Roosevelt to coördinate foreign war orders with domestic aircraft needs.

Last Year's Row Recalled.

Recalling last year's controversy over the release to France of an experimental model Douglas attack bomber made for the army, several members sought details of the current negotiations by a British-French mission. It is negotiating on a possible billion-dollar purchase of 8,000 or more American made warplanes.

The members were assured that none of the latest models, ordered since the air corps' $300,000,000 expansion was voted last spring, had been released for export. The negotiations for the P-40 were a later development.

Committeemen, who declined to permit use of their names, said the questioning also sought to bring out whether pressure had been brought to bear on the war department by the President, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, who is the administration's liaison representative in the allied aircraft negotiations, or by other officials.

Efforts Reported Rebuffed.

They were told, they said, that neither the army nor navy thus far had surrendered any manufacturing priorities so that the British or French might receive quicker deliveries of war planes. Persons familiar with the negotiations said that efforts by the British and French to obtain release of two new high speed fighters other than the P-40 had been rebuffed.

These were said to be the Lockheed P-38, two motor interceptor pursuit plane, and the Bell P-39, which is armed with a small cannon. The P-38 attained a 420 mile an hour speed in a trial transcontinental flight.

CRASH CAUSES CONTROVERSY.

Congressional controversy over sale of American military planes to France arose last year after the crash of a high-speed Douglas attack bomber revealed that it was being demonstrated to Capt. Paul Chemidlin, a representative of a French air mission. Chemidlin was injured in the crash and John Cable, the test pilot, was killed.

A subsequent investigation by the senate military affairs committee revealed that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, with the permission of President Roosevelt, had gone over the heads of war department officials and ordered negotiations with France for planes not yet accepted by the army. This was seven months before the beginning of the war in Europe.

A short time after the crash, France bought 100 of the 300 mile an hour bombers, and three months ago ordered 270 more. Great Britain has bought 750 Lockheed bombers.

46 U. S. Navy Planes Reach Havana; Crash Hurts Two

HAVANA, Cuba, March 10.—Forty-six United States navy planes, under the command of Col. James T. Moore, landed at Rancho Boyeros airport this afternoon from Guantanamo, en route to Miami, Fla. Two men of Col. Moore's command were injured at Camaguey, where the planes landed to refuel at noon, in the takeoff crash of their small bomber. The plane was destroyed and the pilot and mechanic severely injured.

UNSEEN PLANES SPREAD ALARM IN NORTH FRANCE

PARIS, March 10 (AP).—Northern France was held under an air raid alarm for one and one-half hours today during a spurt in German and British-French war activity.

The air alarm extended from 11:14 a. m. to 12:44 p. m., but inhabitants of the region saw no raiders.

The British-French communique tonight said:

"On the western slopes of the Vosges mountains several encounters took place between our advance units and German patrols which had to fall back under our fire. Air forces were fairly active on both sides."

Front Active Near Moselle.

BERLIN, March 10 (AP).—The high command communique on yesterday's events follows:

"At various places between the Moselle river and the Palatinate forest there was considerable artillery and patrol activity.

"The air force made reconnaissance flights over eastern France.

"In the afternoon, on the border, there was an air battle between seven Messerschmitts [German planes] and 10 French planes of Morane and Curtiss [American] types. One Morane plane was shot down."

Fly Over Prague and Vienna.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—The air ministry today announced British planes carried out successful reconnaissance flights over Vienna and Prague last night.

SEEK TO UNCOVER RELIEF DEALINGS BY FRAUD RING

Jailed Worker Will Face New Quiz Today.

Investigators studying affairs of the Bremen township relief office were working yesterday to uncover the operations of an alleged fraud ring which they said had trafficked in relief orders. These orders, the investigators said, were sold at a promised profit of 25 per cent.

Fire, supposedly of incendiary origin, burned the office at 147th street and Cleveland avenue, near Posen, on Feb. 25. Most of the records were destroyed.

Relief officials today will resume their questioning of Eugene Brown, colored, an investigator for the relief office, in an effort to obtain evidence of the manipulations and extent of the ring. Brown was arrested yesterday on charges of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and violation of the corrupt practices act in connection with relief orders.

Tells of Buying Orders.

Brown said he has $3,200 worth of the township's relief disbursement orders. He said he paid $2,350 for the orders and purchased them from James Bennette, auditor and clerk of the township relief office. Bennette, who has been missing since two days after the fire, is sought on warrants charging conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and bigamy and nonsupport. Nearby hospitals were searched yesterday in the belief Bennette might have entered one of them.

Destruction of the records has hampered relief officials in the investigation. The disbursement orders —vouchers for food, fuel, and other supplies—are issued to reliefers thru the township office. Reliefers give the orders to merchants for supplies. The merchants return the orders to the relief office, where they are redeemed at face value. Many of these redeemed orders, and the records of their payment, were lost in the fire.

Payment of Some Orders Slow.

Investigators are uncertain just how the alleged ring functioned. It was said payment of some of the orders was slow because outstanding unredeemed orders were in excess of current relief funds. Merchants who had accumulated a large amount of the unredeemed orders, it was said, might have been willing to dispose of them for a cash payment of 75 cents on the dollar.

In that event, it was suggested, Bennette or others in the ring might have purchased the orders at a 25 per cent discount, collecting later at full value thru the relief office. Gordon Nash, assistant state's attorney, said Brown admitted purchasing orders for 75 cents on the dollar and selling them later at full value. Brown said he had been doing this for some time, but did not know how many orders were involved in his transactions. Investigators said Bennette might have used funds supplied by Brown or others to purchase the orders from merchants at the 25 per cent discount.

2 Others Tell of Purchases.

Burt Fulton, 16806 Oak Park avenue, Tinley Park, also a relief investigator for the Bremen office, and O. F. Fleisher, 1938 West York street, Blue Island, a salesman, also said they had purchased relief orders from Bennette.

Fulton said he gave Bennette $1,500 for the orders, but never received any of them. Fleisher said he has $3,750 worth of the orders.

Otto Ziebell, Bremen township supervisor, said Brown has been discharged from the relief staff and Fulton has been suspended. Brown was in jail last night under bonds of $10,000.

OAK PARK YOUTH AT PRINCETON IS INJURED IN PRANK

Princeton, N. J., March 10 [Special].—John C. Seed, 18 years old, of 923 North Elmwood street, Oak Park, Ill., suffered severe back injuries late last night when he fell 35 feet to the ground while attempting to steal the clapper from the bell of Nassau hall—a feat that has been a traditional challenge to Princeton freshmen for generations.

John C. Seed.

Two other freshmen who were standing watch below called an ambulance to remove the injured boy to the university infirmary.

The tradition of stealing the clapper is so old that its origin has been lost in antiquity, but many prominent Princeton graduates still cherish stolen clappers as mementos of their youth.

Seed is the son of Dr. Lindon Seed, a Chicago surgeon. He prepared at Oak Park High school for Princeton.

SUMNER PUSHES BILL REGULATING THE REGULATORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Representative Jessie Sumner [R., Ill.], a former county judge, declared today that passage of the Walter-Logan administrative law bill is necessary to set private enterprise free from the juggernaut of federal burocracy and restore employment and prosperity.

The Walter-Logan bill, passed by unanimous consent in the senate last year but later reconsidered and returned to the calendar on complaint of New Dealers, will come up for consideration in the house within the next few weeks. Described as a bill to regulate the regulators, it is designed to place government administrative boards, commissions and authorities under strict judicial supervision and halt what proponents of the legislation call "the drift toward totalitarianism."

"I expect to support and vote for the Walter-Logan bill," said Representative Sumner. "I agree with Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.] that 'the principles incorporated in this bill cannot be denied by any firm believer in our principles of government.'

"There is no question that some of the federal bureaus and agencies are exercising, at present, a dangerous amount of power. As a lawyer I have seen plenty of instances where citizens were deprived by some politically appointed federal employé of the rights they are supposed to have under the constitution."

Tavern Watchman Slugged as 3 Bandits Seize $225

Liborio Cascio, 60 years old, 1444 Larrabee street, was slugged yesterday by one of three bandits who forced Nicholas Colletti, manager of a tavern at 5937 Fullerton avenue, to surrender $225. Cascio, a watchman, attempted to crouch behind the bar instead of complying with an order to line up with Colletti and two patrons.

FIELD DELUXE CLOTHES*

ARE CREATED BY

FABRIC MOLDERS

THAT'S WHY THEY

FIT BETTER—HOLD THEIR SHAPE LONGER—ARE MORE FLATTERING—POSSESS MORE DISTINCTION

Fabric Molders mold and shape fine woolens with needle and iron. They're a select group of artisans with long experience in their craft. They possess far-above-average skill and are paid top wages. Under their expert fingers style is molded in—not just cut in as in ordinary tailoring. In average clothes style begins and ends on the cutting table. In Field De Luxe Clothes the cutting operation is only the beginning—the point where the Fabric Molders go to work.

In molding with the iron, they painstakingly shrink and stretch the woolens into the contours that the designer visualized. The smart lines thus created are securely anchored for permanency by deft hand needling. Far more than the usual number of stitches per inch are put in and expertly tightened to just the right degree. Fabric Molders refuse to be hurried. They give particular attention to hidden details, for they realize that the inner construction is the foundation of all their work. What they have created lasts, and the passage of time emphasizes their mastery of their art.

The moment you slip into a suit created by Fabric Molders you'll discover that it's different—in the way it looks—in the way it feels—and more important still, in the way you feel. We cordially invite you to come in and make this discovery today.

BUILDERS OF CHICAGO (25)

By CALEB

THE Civil War was still six years away, and Chicago a vivid, vital, overgrown community of only 80,000 people, when a young son of Massachusetts named Charles Tobey set his valise down, and looked about at the future arena of his efforts as representative of a furniture company in Boston.

Born on Sept. 10, 1831, this new arrival was only twenty-four, and had chiefly to commend him some farm discipline, some village schooling, some experience with his firm in the East, where he had started at $5 weekly, and a sterling inheritance running back to a great-grandfather officer in the Revolution—ultimately to Elder Brewster himself. These, with good looks and unlimited determination, were his stock-in-trade.

Chicago appealed to this New Englander, and the very next year he severed his Boston connection and launched his own modest furniture business. Both in the years prior and subsequent to the Great Fire, its affairs continued to prosper, and the name "Tobey's" became almost as familiar to fine homes throughout the city as those of their own occupants. Charles Tobey's interests likewise extended into finance as well as furnishings, and he was both a director in the old Fourth National Bank and a stockholder in the First National after its founding.

Marrying Fannie Van Arman in 1868, the couple made a gay adventure of European travel two years later; but a particular interest which claimed much of his time, energy and money was the stimulation of the growth of the village of his birth, Dennis, Mass. There he built summer resort cottages, and the Nobscusett Hotel, and to the scenes of his boyhood and early schooling he contributed a new measure of charm, growth and prosperity.

Charles Tobey's term of life proved shorter than that of many contemporary figures similarly associated in pioneer fashion with Chicago's development; but when he died at 57, on Sept. 26, 1888, he had already abundantly justified, in fortune and accomplishment, the early urge that turned his steps far Westward in pursuit of the dream, Success. His tall, commanding figure and affable presence were cynosures of attention in many of his clubs, particularly the Union League; and the impress of his personality on friends and associates has remained a clear-cut memory even in the minds of many present-day Chicagoans.

ATTORNEY ASKS COURT HUNT FOR SMITH RECORDS

Seeks to Trace Books in Horner Slush Fund.

was ordered to turn around and go back to Springfield.

That night, according to Simmons, Smith burned some papers in the oil furnace of the Springfield home. What was destroyed is not known by authorities. Smith also burned a first aid kit in the furnace that day. However, he had been talking of suicide and it is theorized that he may have been destroying papers that he did not want to remain after his death. On Thursday, he tried to kill himself with a kitchen knife.

Smith Slated to Talk.

Attorney Fitzgerald's announcement tonight that he would ask a court seizure of Smith's records tomorrow, was a new development in the case. On the day of Smith's death, deposition hearings began in the injunction suit which had tied up the Horner 2 per cent slush fund. Judge Stone had issued a writ temporarily enjoining the slush fund. Smith was a defendant in this pending suit along with other Horner appointees. Some of Smith's friends now say that he had intended to tell his story to the embarrassment of his estranged political associates.

Fitzgerald also assailed today statements being obtained for the defense from the statehouse employés who have been induced to contribute 2 per cent of their salaries to the campaign fund. Bureau heads, it was learned, are now having their subordinates sign statements that these contributions were purely voluntary. Fitzgerald charged that intimidation used to collect the assessments was being repeated to collect court evidence.

The reports of income tax agents being in the city could not be verified by hotel registrations. Smith, it was said, several times during the last few years had given information to government men about payments made to state officials and political leaders by contractors and suppliers.

Other inquiries, if not informal investigations, were being made by the Illinois state police, by the state's attorney's office here, and, according to one report, by the attorney general's office. All of these agencies are Democratic. The official agency for determining the cause of a sudden death, the coroner's office, is Republican.

Nurse Tells Her Story.

Coroner Dragoo, awaiting the completion of a postmortem examination of Smith's body, had Miss Alta Lewis, a trained nurse, and John Jackson, a hospital orderly, reënact incidents preceding their discovery of Smith's body in a bathtub, the head submerged. It was the first detailed account of these incidents and corrected the coroner's misconception of several of the details.

The inquiry was conducted in a room of the St. John's hospital where Smith had been secreted with the aid of Dr. George H. Fleichli and Chief Walter Williams of the state police after his unsuccessful suicide attempt on Thursday evening.

"About 6 o'clock Saturday morning," said Miss Lewis, "Mr. Smith got up from his bed here and walked into this bathroom. He said he was going to bathe and shave. I noticed there was no bath towel and asked him which he was going to do first. He said he was going to bathe first.

"I went out to the linen room here," she said, indicating where it was, about 60 feet from the door, "and returned with a towel. The bathroom door was closed. I could hear the water running in the bath tub. I knocked to give him the towel. He didn't answer and I became alarmed."

"Was the door locked?" the coroner asked.

Nurse Sends for Orderly.

"There's a latch from the inside and it was latched," said the nurse, "but you'll notice that the lock has another handle on the outside so that a patient can't lock himself in the bathroom."

"Why didn't you open the door, then, to see why your patient didn't answer your knock?" asked the coroner.

"I'm not accustomed to opening a bathroom where there is a man taking a bath," she replied. "I went to get a man orderly to open the door."

Jackson, a lad in his early twenties, told of opening the door; where the electric razor was and of finding the body in the tub.

This bathroom is rather small. The washbowl, with a mirror over it is flush against a bathtub. The side of the bathtub is low, less than knee high to a man. Over the mirror is the plug for electric appliances.

The bath is to the right of a man facing the mirror. Smith was left handed so that in a shaving position he might be turned slightly toward the tub.

"In the tub as the nurse and I entered," said Jackson, "the patient was crouched on his right side with his head under the water. The water was still running and the tub was about two-thirds full with his body in it."

The position, the coroner commented, was not inconsistent with a theory that Smith might have fallen into the tub. The fact that the water was running might or might not be considered significant, it was said.

"The cord from the electric razor was plugged in," Jackson continued, "and was dangling over the mirror. The razor had been disconnected from the cord and was on the glass shelf under the mirror. So he could not have received an electric shock while shaving. His face did not look as tho he had started to shave."

"I don't think he had time to start a shave," added Miss Lewis. "But I don't see why he couldn't have received a shock just as easily from the razor in the position we found it."

"Did the artificial respiration remove enough water from the lungs to indicate that death was from drowning, that the patient was breathing when his head was immersed in the tub?" the coroner asked.

Heart in Good Condition.

"We couldn't tell how much water came out," the nurse replied. "The body was on the floor with the face on some bath towels so that drops of water from the mouth were immediately absorbed."

Preliminary examinations have disclosed that Smith's heart was in a healthy condition, discrediting any theory of death from organic causes. No poison has been found in the stomach.

The post mortem is expected to be completed this week. The coroner then will reconvene the jury which viewed the body yesterday afternoon and will summon witnesses for an inquest.

Funeral services for Smith are scheduled for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Pontiac. They will be held at the First Methodist church there unless it is decided to hold a military funeral at the armory.

REVEAL QUIZZING OF SMITH IN CITY BUILDING PROBE

F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, who died Saturday in Springfield under mysterious circumstances, was questioned last October by federal agents investigating trade restraints in the building industry in the Chicago area, it was learned yesterday.

Leo F. Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general, in charge of the building inquiry, said Smith had been sent for and questioned for several hours in Tierney's office. Tierney would not comment on the nature of the information given by Smith.

From other sources it was learned Smith was questioned on possible collusive bidding by contractors for road construction contracts. It also was reported he was asked whether certain contractors were favored by state officials and enjoyed a monopoly on state work.

Smith, as head of the state department of public works, supervised all state highway construction and maintenance.

SMITH'S WIDOW IS PLACED UNDER CARE OF DOCTOR

Pontiac, Ill., March 10 [Special].—F. Lynden Smith's widow, Mrs. Marion Williams Smith, discussed her husband's death today.

Mrs. Smith was interviewed at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Hughes. The widow of the state director of public works was in bed under a physician's care from the shock of her husband's unexpected death on Saturday.

Break with Governor.

Asked if she attributed the mental depression which preceded her husband's death to his break with Gov. Horner, she answered:

"Well, he knew the governor was not well enough to run again and told him so. Mr. Smith knew that he himself was in no condition to continue in politics either."

Mrs. Smith was asked why she and her husband had returned early from Florida, where Smith had been sent in political exile until after the April primary after his break with the governor.

Wanted to Leave Florida.

"I had a bad cold, and I still was recovering from a major operation performed three months ago," she said. "I wanted to come back. He was fed up with having nothing to do down there and wanted to come back, too."

Mrs. Smith said she had no idea why her husband should have been, as his friends said, in fear of his life.

NEW WORK PLAN AVERTS STRIKE OF CITY DRIVERS

Truck drivers employed by the city, at a meeting at 113 South Ashland avenue yesterday, called off a threatened strike after a new plan of working hours had been announced by officials of local 726 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Approximately 900 attended the meeting.

At a meeting Saturday with the union officials, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, and Ald. Jacob Arvey [24th], chairman of the city council finance committee, said the city would employ the truck drivers as close as possible to 44 hours a week.

The drivers had demanded restoration of the old flat scale of $192 a month. The present budget fixes the basis for their pay at $1 an hour, and their employment as needed. The new schedule will bring their salaries to approximately $192 a month.

12 CANAL ZONE BOMBERS IN MASS FLIGHT TO PERU

Focus Attention on Latins' Expanding Air Links.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, March 10.—The arrival here tomorrow of 12 United States army bombing planes from the Canal Zone will focus further attention on the growing importance of air links with South America.

The visit of the American bombers, which will bring Maj. Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis, commander of the Panama canal department, and a group of high ranking army officers, will be the first ever made to Peru by Canal Zone planes. The craft took off from Balboa today and remained in Guayaquil, Ecuador, overnight.

Attention is being turned also to a mass flight that five Peruvian army planes will make around South America. They will take off on March 19 and return on April 21.

Vast Area Develops.

The vast wildernesses of Amazonia, Matto Grosso, and the Gran Chaco, once remote, now are only a few hours' to a day's flight from coastal cities as a result of air line extensions. Scores of new landing fields are under construction in these territories and American companies are engaged in intense competition in developing the air line business.

South America also has benefited thru extension of trans-Atlantic air lines. With the inauguration last week of another European air mail connection, South America now has four air links to Europe and the United States.

Served by Clippers.

Two American Clipper planes make connections in South America every week and compete with the weekly service of Air France via Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires, and the weekly Lufthansa service by way of La Paz, Bolivia, and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. At Rio, the Lufthansa line connects to the Italian South Atlantice service. These services have effected a reduction of about 10 per cent in trans-Atlantic postal rates compared with the rates of North Atlantic lines.

Many tons of freight are carried by the air lines in South America, ranging from movie films to cement and tobacco. The Peruvian Condor Aviation company recently transported more than 50 tons of tobacco from Tarapoto, Peru, over the Andes mountains to Lima.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 10 (AP).—A bomb exploded at the entrance of the German chamber of commerce last night while about 200 German residents were viewing a propaganda film including views of the Siegfried line. Damage was slight.

HARDWARE STORE OWNER DIES.

GREEN BRINGS HIS DRIVE FOR VOTES HOME THIS WEEK

Lyons, Brooks Near End of Downstate Campaign.

Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, brings his campaign into Cook county this week. His opponent, Richard J. Lyons, and Lyons' teammate, Wayland Brooks, candidate for United States senator, will be winding up their downstate itinerary.

Green will address the third of his regular Monday night workers' rallies in the La Salle hotel this evening, with Franklin J. Stransky, former Republican state chairman, presiding. But tomorrow night ward meetings will begin to claim his attention. He is scheduled to speak in the 42d ward at 1023 North State street and in the Lawndale Masonic temple, 23d street and Millard avenue, in the 22d ward.

To Visit 29 Cities.

During their final week downstate, Lyons and Brooks will visit 29 cities in 15 counties. Important night meetings will be held for them at Freeport, Rockford, Ottawa, Joliet, Elgin, and Aurora. They start at Rochelle at 10 a. m. today, and later in the day will stop at Dixon, Morrison, Savanna, and Stockton before going to Freeport.

A group of Republican women yesterday joined in Lyons' demand that Green reply to his charges that Democrats are aiding and directing the Green campaign.

Mrs. Mabel B. Krutckoff, chairman of the women's division of the Republican county committee and a Lyons supporter, made her demand in written form and included in it the messages of several other women leaders. She said she spoke "at the instance of literally hundreds of Republican women workers."

Fee Acceptances Charged.

Mrs. Krutckoff repeated in slightly different form the questions put to Green by Lyons, including specific charges that Green has accepted fees from federal receiverships and from utility corporations including the Chicago and West Towns railway.

"The charges are too serious to be ignored, in the opinion of our women workers," continued Mrs. Krutckoff.

Mrs. Krutckoff quoted messages from Mrs. Frances E. Engelman, chairman in Leyden township, and Mrs. Leona Rohen of the 30th ward. She also referred to charges made by a woman worker in the 13th ward who also communicated with THE TRIBUNE. In each instance she asked that her name be omitted because its publication would cause trouble for her.

That woman's charge was that a Republican leader in the 13th ward had gone to Democrats and told them that County Clerk M. J. Flynn, the Democratic committeeman, had agreed to "release" 30 Democrats in each precinct to vote for Green in the Republican primary.

Star on W-G-N

EVELYN BRENT.

Evelyn Brent and Francis X. Bushman, motion picture stars of the modern and silent eras, respectively, were guest performers yesterday on the Fifth Row Center program over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. They appeared in a new radio play, "Make Believe," with Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra providing a musical setting. Miss Brent played the rôle of a first lady of the theater and Mr. Bushman that of her producer and director.

Miss Brent made seven motion pictures during 1939, among them "Tip-Off Girl" and "Night Club Scandals." Mr. Bushman, the idol of the silent screen, especially in "Ben Hur," recently has been appearing on many radio programs.

Canada's Enemy Aliens Kept Busy in Forests

KANANASKIS, Alberta, March 10 [Special].—Canada, like other members of the British empire, is having to deal with the problem of enemy aliens. She is maintaining two internment camps for this purpose, of which one is in the foothills of the Rockies west of Calgary. Barbed wire surrounds the area in which the prisoners live, sentries patrol the limits, and the interned men are kept busy clearing away underbrush in the forests and trimming trees.

River Victim Is Identified as Missing St. Louis Man

The body of a man, about 30 years old, was recovered from the river at Madison street yesterday. He had been dead two months. Cards indicated he was Paul J. Bushman of 2514 McLaren avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

COURTNEY OFFICE TACTICS ASSAILED BY 2 CANDIDATES

Gutknecht and Coghlan Appeal to Voters.

The administration of the state's attorney's office under Thomas J. Courtney was assailed yesterday in three radio speeches. Two of them were made by his opponent in the Democratic primary, Municipal Judge John Gutknecht. The other was made by Malachy J. Coghlan, candidate for the Republican nomination for the office.

Judge Gutknecht's speeches constituted his second attack on Courtney. In this instance he amplified each of several declarations contained in the pledge he made the voters in the announcement of candidacy. He still avoided using Courtney's name but he addressed him by title.

Assails Ax Campaign.

"I imagine the song of the surf along Florida's shores is sweet to hear, but duty calls, Mr. State's Attorney," was an example of this method. "And what is your program for this month—the illegal ax or the legal jury trial?"

Gutknecht had paved the way for this question with the following:

"When the state's attorney—because he lacks the ability to win legal prosecutions—goes on an ax rampage, the loser is the citizen."

Judge Gutknecht also charged that the state's attorney's office has been directly active in the affairs of labor unions.

Coghlan, the Republican candidate, who served 10 years as an assistant state's attorney during which he prosecuted racket cases, attacked present day conditions and said he would continue to expose them if public support rallies to him. That statement, considered in connection with others in his speech, was taken to mean that he may withdraw as a candidate unless his appeal for backing is answered.

Urges Interest in Primary.

He asserted that much blame for the situation rests upon the citizen who does not take an interest in primaries.

"In view of that fact," he continued, "our officialdom is poisoned beyond hope of recovery, poisoned by the soft money that gangsters and goons gladly pay in sizable amounts for the privilege of continuing the rackets with their millions of dollars of annual profit."

Harry S. Ditchburne, another Republican candidate for state's attorney, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of the West Suburban Republican Women's club at La Grange this noon.

"SPEED for bob-sledding thrills! S-L-O-W BURNING for smoking thrills!" says champion "Bucky" Wells

THEY'RE OFF—on the mile-long Mt. Van Hoevenberg run at Lake Placid, N. Y.; with "Bucky" Wells driving. Fifteen breath-taking turns to go. Fifteen chances to taste the supreme thrills of speed. But in smoking it's different, very different. "It's slow burning that makes a cigarette tick with me," "Bucky" Wells says. And he means what he says, because he's smoked slow-burning Camels for ten years.

"ONE-TWO-BOB! ONE-TWO-BOB!" And, as the crew bobs, "Bucky" picks up speed...60—70—80 miles an hour, driving high on the glassy wall of ice as he swings the quarter-ton steel sled around the curve. But in the field of cigarettes, this daring speedster gives the laurels to the quality of slow-burning that he finds in Camels. You can tell by their mild, mellow taste that Camels burn cooler, slower—and scientists have confirmed this: Camels burned slowest of all in recent tests. (See panel, right.)

IF you want to know how it feels to go 80 miles an hour on a racing bob-sled, "Bucky" Wells of Keene Valley, N. Y. can tell you. But when it comes to cigarettes, "Bucky" Wells is on the slow side... the slow-burning side. If you know your cigarettes, that means Camels!

"I know that Camels burn slower," "Bucky" says. "There's cool comfort in a slow-burning Camel. Mildness—more flavor. Every puff is a fresh treat to the taste, and—get this—there are many more puffs to enjoy in a Camel. Slow burning means extra smoking. 'I'd walk a mile for a . . . .'"

Even if a gust of wind did carry away "Bucky's" last word, not many people would fail to realize it was C-A-M-E-L. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos—drawn from the greatest treasure of mellowed tobaccos ever brought together in one place in the whole world.

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

DARE DEMOCRAT PARTY TO GIVE UP BOOK RACKET

Republicans Challenge: Obey Election Law.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National committee attempted to embarrass the Democrats financially today. He challenged them to obey the corrupt practices act and to refrain from the shaking down of corporations by the convention book device in this year's campaign.

Mr. Hamilton announced that on recommendation of Ernest T. Weir, Republican national finance chairman, and Harrison E. Spangler, chairman of the subcommittee on concessions for the 1940 convention, there will be no Republican convention book.

The Democratic national committee raised a total of $940,145 from the sale of advertising in and the purported sale of copies of their 1936 convention book. Many of the books, autographed by President Roosevelt, were sold at $250 per copy to large corporations, including those doing business with the federal government, Hamilton recalled.

Some Paid $10,000.

Some of the corporations, he added, made out checks for sums as high as $5,000 and $10,000 for copies of the books autographed by the President, altho the corrupt practices act makes it unlawful for any corporation whatsoever to contribute to national political committees.

"Such an undertaking was as shocking an exhibition of political gangsterism and immorality as ever has been witnessed in this country," Hamilton said. "Yet for all his pious utterances of indignation and all his preachings about 'decency' and 'American morals,' President Roosevelt has not to this day denounced or said a single word in condemnation of what his Democratic national committee did.

"We hope the Democratic national committee will see fit to follow us in the course which we have adopted."

May Cause Embarrassment.

There are indications that Hamilton's challenge, unless ignored, may cause the Democrats serious financial embarrassment, for two reasons. The first is that the Hatch act of 1939 and the senate campaign expenditures committee appointed by Vice President John N. Garner are expected to make it exceedingly difficult for the Democrats to coerce WPA relief workers. They did this in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and other states for the 1938 campaign, the Sheppard senate committee found.

The second reason is that John L. Lewis, dictator of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, is violently opposed, or so he says, to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt. Lewis raised more than $600,000 from his United Mine Workers and other C. I. O. unions for Mr. Roosevelt's reelection in 1936.

Gillette Heads Committee.

The New Dealers are protesting that Vice President Garner, who is an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's third term intentions, deliberately stacked the 1940 senate campaign investigating committee with anti-New Dealers.

This committee, which is expected to receive a total of at least $100,000 for its investigation work, is headed by Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], whom the New Dealers sought to purge in the 1938 primary campaign. Other members are Senators John E. Miller [D., Ark.], Lister Hill [D., Ala.], Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.], and Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.]. The only New Deal yes-man on the committee is Senator Hill.

Moreover, under the investigating resolution, the presidential and vice presidential campaigns may be investigated this year as well as the senatorial primary and election campaigns. The resolution was prepared by Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, and another intended victim of Mr. Roosevelt's purge adventure in 1938.

Contributions Are Included.

Included within the scope of the committee's investigation are campaign contributions and expenditures, the use of public funds, patronage, or any other means of influencing elections and, specifically, any violation of the corrupt practices act.

Contributions from wealthy prospective ambassadors enriched the coffers of the Democratic national committee in 1932 and 1936, but the Republicans do not believe there will be such a return from that quarter this year, since the Democratic prospects do not look so good.

NEW ARCHBISHOP TERMS RELIGION MAN'S BULWARK

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, who was enthroned last Thursday as spiritual leader of 1,400,000 Catholics of the Chicago archdiocese, voiced his civic and social credo last night before 5,000 lay leaders and representatives of various races and creeds in the Auditorium theater.

Responding to addresses of welcome from Protestant and Jewish leaders and from business, charitable, and political spokesmen, the new archbishop defined himself as a witness to the dignity of the human personality which was guaranteed to every man by the sacrifice of the Son of God on the cross.

"To those who advocate some other social inspiration than religion, who assert that man is a mere incident, and that the group or species is the lasting thing, I answer that there will follow a soulless collectivism which can do no more than make the world a desert," the archbishop said.

Boon to Human Rights.

"It is religion that turns man to God, as an individual and as a social being, and gives to him a stable, universal norm of morality. Where society is under the sway of religion there can be no suppression of human rights, no inhuman persecution of minorities. The death of Christ on Calvary's Good Friday cross is the unifying force of mankind. He died for each man. He became a potent social reality when he died for all of us."

Mayor Kelly told the welcoming throng that Archbishop Stritch's coming last week had made Chicago a city of happy headlines, with war abroad and internal setbacks giving way to a man of peace. Mayor Kelly recalled that the new archbishop's first words in Chicago were a declaration that a nation that abandons God forsakes civilization.

Tribute to Archbishop Stritch was voiced by Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Sinai temple, who spoke on behalf of Chicago's Jewish community.

Called Day of Consecration.

"It is fitting that we should call this day a day of consecration for our community life," Dr. Mann said. "Unwaveringly, Archbishop Stritch has held aloft the light of religious consecration and from his being has emanated a spiritual interpretation of the universe.

"In a day like this, when statism has beclouded the vision of Him who reigns, when political regimentation in large areas has fettered the mind and enslaved the soul, the voice of religion must yet proclaim: 'Make ye a highway for our God.'"

Dr. Ralph Wakefield, president of the Chicago Church federation, speaking on behalf of 1,060 Protestant churches, praised the new archbishop both for "what he is as a great Christian and for what he represents as the chief shepherd of a great archdiocese in a church which lifts the candle of the Lord."

Oak Park Apartment Fire Is Blamed on Burglar

Fire, supposedly started by a burglar, attacked the second floor apartment of Leon Walther, 210 North Marion street, Oak Park, last night. The Walthers had packed all their belongings and furniture to move to another address today, and were not at home last night. The thief climbed a ladder and entered the apartment thru a window. The fire did $2,000 damage.

THE WAGNER ACT AND RACKETEERS.

The three San Francisco unionists who took to court their troubles with George Scalise, the former white slaver and convict who is head of the Building Service Employes' International union, didn't get much relief from the judge.

True, the judge forbade Scalise and his right hand man to sit on the union's executive board when it considers the expulsion of the plaintiffs. But he could not exorcise from the minds of the remaining members of the board the thought that any one who does not obey orders may shortly be found dead in an alley.

The judge said that Scalise ought to account for the funds of the international union, but he was unable to order him to do so because the international's constitution does not require it. He said that if Scalise is the kind of man the plaintiffs say he is the international convention, which meets in May, should remove him. But aside from ordering that the San Francisco local of the union be given representation in that convention he could not protect the members of the union against terrorism, either in the selection of convention delegates by local unions or in their deliberations when they assemble.

In short, the judge implied that even if Scalise is a gangster there is little the public, acting thru the courts, can do about it. The matter is one for the union members themselves, even tho they may have good reason to believe that any attempt to deal with it will involve extreme personal risk.

The public can, however, remove some of these risks. The Wagner act presents a vehicle for such action. It may be debatable whether congress has the power to regulate unions directly, but there can be little question of its power to restrict the privileges it grants under the Wagner act to unions that meet certain standards.

The Wagner act, in fact, already does this. By its definition of a labor organization it denies its privileges to unions dominated by employers. That definition can be amended to deny privileges to unions dominated by gangsters, not directly, but indirectly by prescribing rules for union administration that would make it difficult or impossible for racketeers to seize and maintain control of a union. A union would be under no direct compulsion to adopt and observe such rules, but if it failed to do so it could not be certified as a bargaining agent.

The two regulations which would give the greatest aid to union members in running their unions for their own benefit would be requirements for public accounting of union funds and for honest and regular union elections. There should be little difficulty in holding unions to acceptable accounting standards. The majority of them make fairly complete financial reports to members today, including even some organizations, such as the mine workers, in which rank and file members are denied an effective voice in the choice of their officers.

Provisions for free and honest elections are a more difficult problem. We need only look at our political elections. Chicago has statutes that are expected to guarantee honest elections, but it also has Ald. Jake Arvey's vote thieves and it has seen the county judge manipulate the election machinery for political advantage. It is possible to forbid wholesale disfranchisement or terrorization of union members in choosing their officers, and to require unions to hold elections at stated intervals, but it is no more reasonable to expect that such rules will bring about a state of perfection in unions than it is to expect that the statutes will bring about a state of perfection in political elections.

If regulation or supervision of accounting and elections is to be effective, it must extend past the international unions to their local organizations. It is in this field that racketeer control is centered. For every international union that is in the grip of racketeers there are scores of local unions so afflicted. Many of them are affiliated with internationals the majority of whose locals are well conducted, but whose international officials refrain from interfering with a minority of local racketeer union bosses for the same reasons that political machines tolerate corruption in rotten boroughs.

It is probable that any attempt to use the Wagner act as a weapon against union racketeering will meet violent opposition not only from racketeers but from honest labor leaders who fear that governmental regulation may become government control. Those who are sincere in this belief can forestall governmental intervention if they will set up an effective self-policing system within the community of labor.

At present they contend that the American Federation of Labor lacks power to interfere in the affairs of autonomous unions that are affiliated with it. This is a contention that is not to be taken too seriously in view of the powers that the A. F. of L. found it possessed when it needed them to deal with the C. I. O. And, if the powers really are lacking, the A. F. of L. constitution is a flexible document, easily amended. The A. F. of L. can deny affiliation to unions that do not observe certain minimum standards as to accounting for funds and fair elections. Such standards, if enforced, might render unnecessary the governmental intervention that unions fear.

It should be noted that the disabilities that the A. F. of L. feels it suffers in dealing with international unions and their local branches do not affect its control of federal unions, which are chartered directly by the executive council of the federation. The action of Frank Fenton, director of organization for the federation, in cleaning up several Chicago federal unions whose officials are suspected of hoodlum ties is a good omen. It indicates that the A. F. of L. is beginning to feel the responsibility that goes with its unquestioned authority over this type of union.

DOWN THE HATCH.

In the new Hatch bill the author has endeavored to extend the application of the present law to cover the political activities of state place holders whose compensation comes, even in part, from federal funds. The original Hatch act, painfully accepted by the New Deal as a plague of irresistible virtue, prohibited federal jobholders, excepting the highest placed officials, from taking much, if any, part in active politics. They are supposed to stay at home, read the paper, and listen to the radio. The new bill would do as much for state politicos who get any money from the federal treasury.

The debate over the new measure has revealed a great questioning of souls in the senate. For the most part, the Republicans are sitting by, intending to vote yes when they get a chance. The Democrats are stirred to the depths of their political beings. They wonder how pure they should be to beguile the public confidence and how much base alloy they must have to win the election.

Majority Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky is the most radiant of the hundred per cent purity bloc. Mr. Barkley tells the New Deal that failure to come clean for untainted politics will cost the Democratic party the election. Irritated fellow New Dealers, blinded by the glitter of Mr. Barkley's integrity and passion for the unspotted vote, have some difficulty in replying frankly that if they come too clean they won't carry anything. They favor a purity modified by subsidies, grants, and pay rolls, and by the intensified activity of gentlemen who, enjoying federal contributions, are appreciative of favors received and grateful for favors to come.

Mr. Barkley himself will be remembered as the Kentucky senator for whom, as a candidate for renomination against Happy Chandler, Mr. Roosevelt reminded the voters of the state that 300 million dollars was the sum Dear Alben had been able, by his experience in public affairs and influence in the White House, to procure for deserving Democrats. Senator Sheppard, Texas Democrat, chairman of the committee investigating campaign practices, listed Kentucky among the political items constituting a national scandal which, he said, should be on the conscience of the nation. Mr. Barkley evidently has been entirely converted to Mr. Sheppard's point of view. Some of his skeptical associates may account for this by observing that Mr. Barkley does not have to go into a campaign again for several years. He has his.

The original Hatch bill was a hot potato. The second Hatch bill is another. It's a real self-denying ordinance which would take the politicians out of politics. Who would rather be right than be President?

TYRANTS WHO ARE TYROS.

The "best single measure of business," the Federal Reserve board's index of industrial production, dropped from 128 to 109 in January and February. It has been estimated that the further decline this month will reduce the index to 105. That would be a three months' loss of 23 points.

That is a drop of such violence that no precedent can be found for it in preceding decades. In an interval of more than six years from June, 1922, to September, 1928, the fluctuations of the index were confined to a range of 28 points. In that period it never fell below 83 nor rose above 111. Now in three months we have had about as much variation as there was previously in six years.

And, moreover, in the last seven years there have been other wild swings in the business pendulum. In four months following March, 1933, the index soared 41 points, which was then followed by a decline of 28 points. The fast pickup which then ensued was succeeded by an equally rapid fadeout. That brings us down to the middle of 1935, right after the Supreme court declared NRA unconstitutional, when the longest and best sustained recovery of recent years got under way. The culmination was reached in August, 1937, after which the production index took a 33 point dive. After June, 1938, there was a six months' advance of 27 points, followed by a drop. Again in June, 1939, a seven months' recovery got under way, during which the index rose 36 points. And now the drop of 23 points since last December.

Mind you, these unprecedented changes in the activity of our industries have occurred while the economy has been managed. Many powers were conferred upon the President and his associates as a result of their claims that they could level off the peaks in business and fill in the valleys. Instead we have sharper peaks and deeper valleys and many more of them.

The New Dealers, mostly recruited from classrooms, insisted that if given dictatorial powers they could lift the country out of depression and keep it out. They got their powers, but the country has more business spills and worse ones. Despite their book learning they are novices. Those who rule us haven't any redeeming features. They are both tyrants and tyros.

Editorial of the Day

IT DEPENDS ON WHOSE OX IS GORED.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

There's just a bit of springtime zip in Mayor La Guardia's statement that New York City, taking over the Interborough and the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit systems and granting civil service status to their 27,000 employés, will not recognize the right to strike or the union closed shop.

If the mayor's labor partisans are getting high blood pressure over this announcement they ought to calm down. It is the same La Guardia, of course, who was elected mayor with the support of the American Labor party and who has bounced around the country shouting the right of organized labor to do this, that, and the other about as it pleased.

But if New York City is going to operate transit systems as a municipal undertaking it is certainly unthinkable that it could tolerate strikes against the local government and the public.

So labor's right to strike depends, after all, on whose ox is gored. And however easygoing Mayor La Guardia may be when private industry is crippled by inexcusable labor tieups, he's right in there slugging when there's any danger that his own municipal ox might get it in the neck.

MR. PEPYS IS NOT AMUSED.

11th March—Did spend the week-end in nursing and pampering myself, for I have been ailing, and also in trying to figure how much I owe the government for the burdensome income tax; and did work so hard on the strange documents that I did rest not at all and so got no benefit in body from staying at home, and am much poorer in pocket. I do believe I am paying the government more than I should, and that the tax collectors know it but never tell me; and that they go on year after year putting more things into the forms that I do not understand, hoping thereby to get all my money. This thought irks me, and so at this time of year I become most peevish, and make no jokes, but recite all the melancholy speeches from "Hamlet," especially the line, "The time is out of joint."

Tonight, if my distemper has left me, I will go to a playhouse to see Helen Hayes, a most excellent actress, whom I have known since she was a child and who is not much bigger now than she was then. I did of late read a biography of Miss Hayes, written by her mother and full of quaint incidents about the life of strolling players; and I remembered a thing or two that her mother forgot to put into that book, altho she was at hand, such as the first time Helen stayed out in a café all night and didn't get home until daylight. Also I remembered the pilgrimage of the "Bab the Subdeb" company from Chicago to New York, when certain ink stained wretches of this city accompanied the troupe and made merry all the way. Recalling these things, I thought:

"There was more laughter in those days than in these, and no income taxes."

Before my retrospective gaze
Ye'd bring an unco bunch.

Or debonair Nat Goodwin braw

From One Hobbyist to Another.

Mr. Pepys hasn't spoken of his hobby [collecting wine labels] lately, but every time he does, I think of my hobby and the part Mr. Pepys played in assisting me in my collection. Mr. Pepys has always had a warm spot in my heart because he was the only dramatic critic kind enough to answer my letters. That was away back in 1923 when one Charles Collins was dramatic editor of the now defunct Chicago Evening Post.

My hobby is collecting phonograph records of the great personages of the drama and in the musical world. I had been trying to find recordings of Sarah Bernhardt, and Mr. Pepys sent a nice letter telling me that he knew of none but made suggestions where I might get information. That was April 23, 1923. On April 30, 1923, came another letter from Mr. Pepys [both the letters are preserved in my scrapbook] telling of a recording made in Paris.

I thought that perhaps Mr. Pepys would be interested to know that since that time I have obtained six recordings of Bernhardt.

My collection of records of great personages of the stage include Julia Arthur, Frank Bacon [four scenes from "Lightnin'"], Rose Coghlan, George Cohan, De Wolf Hopper, Raymond Hitchcock, May Irwin, Joseph Jefferson, Elsie Janis, Cyril Maude, Ben Greet, Montgomery and Stone, Bertha Kalish, Alexander Moissi, Charles Laughton, Ellen Terry [five of them], Adah Rehan, Beerbohm-Tree, Forbes-Robertson, Sothern and Marlowe, Maurice Rostand, and many others.

Turning to the operatic stage, I have recently added the rarest of rare in recordings—the voice of the great Jean de Reszke! Re-recorded from an old cylinder made during a performance at the Metropolitan in 1901, it is a far cry from modern recording, but one actually hears De Reszke sing fragments from two operas. G. W. O.

WHEN IRIS BLOOMS.

This have I learned: Time heals the deepest grief;
That memories which once brought only pain
At last bring comfort. Blessed the relief
When recollections bring one peace again.
Now I can see blue iris in the spring
Or clump of velvet pansy in its bed:
"Those are the flowers she loved," my heart will sing.
The pain is less; I'm strangely comforted.
"She loved to dance; those were her favorite tunes,"
I'll muse. At sight of sun on gleaming hair:
"We took long walks on golden afternoons."
The seasons change; now soon it will be spring.
My heart no longer dreads—remembering.

Eugenia Gerlach Stein.

Prayer to the Northern Sun.

O, chary sun, be kind and show your glowing face again! Know you not that all the world lies gray for want of you? The kindly snow is gone, and dreary little rivulets wander aimlessly along the hard and bitter earth. Even the dun coated sparrow protests long and shrilly. How then, if this hardy one is glum, can we expect to hear song of robin, lark, and wren? Be kind, O, King, whose golden robe trails joy and healing from its hem; be kind, and smile upon us once again! Helene.

DON'T FALL DOWN.

EVERY year between two and three hundred thousand persons are disabled because of falls—nearly one hundred each working day. The unfortunate part of it all is that most of these mishaps are preventable.

Why do tumbles cause so much damage? Here is the answer: The bony skeleton of an adult weighs about 20 pounds. It forms the framework upon which 260 pairs of muscles are mounted. Our ability to walk, to run, and to climb stairs depends chiefly upon these two essentials of our makeup—all governed by the nervous system. Whenever we take a step we use more than 50 pulleys and levers [muscles and tendons]. No mechanical device performs with so great precision. When balance is disturbed, however, a heavy shock may be sustained by structures that are vulnerable. They are not expecting an assault.

Indispensable, of course, are the eyes and the brain. By means of sight we recognize pitfalls and caution tells us to stop. In addition, the hearing mechanism and the power to feel come into play—advising as to safety or jeopardy.

The one who is well—in possession of all his faculties—has a perfectly coördinated sense of poise. But this function may be upset by fatigue, illness, some strong emotional disturbance [worry or anger], or by alcohol. Then, too, poor vision—uncorrected by glasses—may allow the individual to see so poorly that he cannot protect himself as he should. Ill fitting shoes, broken arches, heels that are worn down on one side—are all likely to invite trouble.

Altho stairs, steps, and ladders are frequently responsible, more than 50 per cent of our difficulties occur on level surfaces. We slip, slide, or sprawl—thus forcing the weight of the body to be thrown off balance. Injuries to vital regions, as well as fractures of bones, may result.

Preoccupation may be the culprit. Routine work that is done with but little attention fixed upon the process leads to the habit of woolgathering. The hand may be carrying out a given procedure with thought miles and miles away. It is probably not too much to ask that the driver of an automobile, for example, shall concentrate upon his job every second of the time that the vehicle is in motion. It is the driver—not the car—that goes out of control. The old sign "Don't talk to the motorman" is only common sense.

But every one can do something to minimize accidents. Water, oil, and grease on floors and stairways can be removed promptly. Rugs have a habit of skidding and—when treading upon them—more care than ordinary may be required. As a precaution, a rubber suction pad will not only save wear and tear on the fabrics but will reduce the hazard. Any round or movable object that does not belong should be shifted out of the pathway. In fact, unseen objects are bonebreakers. A stumble all too often occasions a fall.

Uneven floors should not be overlooked; neither should icy or snow covered walks. Hurry may also be blamed, and the home is in many instances more menacing than the factory. One of the most risky pieces of equipment is the bathtub. Not only should sufficient hand holds be provided but a measure of first importance is a corrugated rubber mat for the bottom of the tub as well as for the floor. While woven rugs will suffice, unless they are wet they may prove elusive.

"I did not think" or "I did not look" characterizes indifference that may involve not only personal danger but hardship for others. Some alertness always is a good watchword.

HEARS PULSE.

A. P. writes:

1. How can a person prevent himself from hearing his pulse beating?

2. How can a person keep from being nauseated by strong smells?

REPLY.

1. This is a common experience when one lies on the side with an ear buried deeply into the pillow. With those who suffer from high blood pressure the sound is likely to be louder. In most instances, however, it is a harmless manifestation. Change your position.

2. Neutralize the odor with perfume or an antiseptic. Sometimes it is a matter of self-control.

PAIN IN ANKLE.

I. S. writes: About a year ago I fell and injured an ankle. I had it taped for six weeks. Now this same ankle has started to ache again. Is there anything I can do? I have it taped now.

REPLY.

Use heat and massage in an effort to restore circulation. If injury to some one of the bones is suspected an X-ray film will disclose the fracture.

DISLOCATIONS.

H. E. writes: My 16 year old daughter is troubled with her knees and hips "going out of joint." Can these attacks be prevented?

REPLY.

In most instances elastic bandages will help. For some reason or other the ligaments must be unusually loose. Massage may be helpful.

PAIN IN SHOULDER.

H. C. writes: I develop a sharp pain near the right shoulder blade whenever it is cold and damp. What could cause this?

REPLY.

Probably of rheumatic origin with resulting muscular pain. Many conditions should be thought of such as neuritis or an inflamed bursa.

SENTIMENT IN BERMUDA.

West Lafayette, Ind., March 8.—Last summer I had the pleasure of spending two months in Bermuda, not among Americans in the big hotels on the north shore, but in a private cottage in a quiet little native settlement on Devonshire bay. In my many talks with Bermudians I heard them express time and again the desire to live as Bermudians under the flag of the United States. Several, as the present war loomed very near, hoped that as a result of any war Bermuda might be, in some way or other, traded to the United States.

Very few English people visit Bermuda. By far the greatest percentage of their tourists come from our country.

It is also interesting to note, both in social conversation and in the society columns of the island's newspapers, how many marriages there are between Americans and Bermudians.

The inhabitants of these islands are, I believe, much more American than English in their manners, inclinations, and sympathies.

Your excellent editorials, demanding Bermuda be given to the United States in lieu of payment of certain debts, strike me as eminently just and reasonable.

E. V. GREENFIELD,
Purdue University.

TAPIOCA IN THE PIE.

Chicago, March 7.—Ole rockin' chair and the social security act are crooking an inviting finger toward one of your editorial writers—the one who threw himself wrestling with "Treason in the Cherry Pie Belt" of March 3. Don't look now, but I think he's working on another, pleading the case of the copper clad bathtub.

His view that the average restaurant cherry pie is made of sweet cherries tips his hand. With half a dozen good restaurants so near, can you imagine him carrying his lunch to work each day! Restaurants use canned cherries, just as 99 out of 99 housewives do in baking their cherry pies, and they're not sweet cherries. See Mary Meade about that!

As for preferring a cherry pie which hasn't been defiled with tapioca or corn starch, that is your editorial writer's privilege. But the judges, competent ones, too, say he's wrong again. In the Washington's birthday cherry pie baking contest they compared appearance, crust, and filling in pies baked by 11 girls, each of whom was a state champion. The No. 1 pie was made with tapioca and corn starch.

March 30 will be Seward day. Now how about an editorial on our chances for ever getting back the $7,200,000 we spent for Alaska? D. M. HUBBARD.

A LOOK AHEAD.

Colfax, Ill., March 7.—With the demise of the New Deal recovery will automatically start on the upgrade, and it will not be thru any effort on the part of the new government. Business will know that the coast is clear. A great buying wave will take place. Orders will pour into factories. Workers will go back to full time jobs with good pay. Industrial works will need to expand, and this would mean more jobs for workers. America deserves prosperity, but will never have it under the New Deal.

FRANK M. GILLESPEY.

MR. LUCAS AND THE HATCH BILL.

Kewanee, Ill., March 7.—Senator Lucas is supposed to have said he voted the sentiment of Illinois voters in opposing the Hatch act.

Well, that ain't the way I heard it. Illinois voters are very much surprised at the stand taken by Senator Lucas in joining the ranks of the 2 per centers. Therefore I dub the senator "2 Per Cent Scottie" for placing himself in the same class with Nudelman, Kelly, Nash, and other Democrats of the same brand.

CHARLES WILLIAMS.

CRAWFORD-PULASKI.

Chicago, March 6.—The Voice of the People has published several letters for and against changing the name of Crawford avenue. One recent correspondent refers to Pershing, Cermak, and Roosevelt roads. These changes were quickly accepted—as was Damen, altho there was some protest over the latter. It is now some five years since the name Crawford was supposed to be changed and in all that time I have heard only one person call the street "Pulaski road." One has only to glance thru the classified telephone directory to see the many firms still advertising their address on Crawford avenue. A downtown typist recently told me that she has never used Pulaski on the many letters she sends out for her company—and how about street car conductors? They still announce "Crawford-Pulaski.

I do not think the change will ever be accepted. Y.

WHERE SPRING IS NOT IN SIGHT.

Chicago, March 7.—Now that spring is just around the corner I suggest that the Illinois Central railroad wash the windows of its suburban cars so that the city people going out to the country and vice versa can get a look at spring when, as, and if it appears. P. M.

NOT CONSISTENTLY DISLOYAL.

Lancaster, Wis., March 7.—A congressman has objected to Mark Twain being honored by a stamp issue, because he was not true to the confederacy. Samuel Clemens, at the time of the civil war, lived in the border state of Missouri, where sympathy was divided between north and south. He joined the forces of the confederacy, briefly, but his heart was not in the cause, so he served but a short time.

Now, says the congressman, he is not worthy of honor because he failed to continue in an armed rebellion against the government of the United States. If he had done his best to destroy the Union, then, 80 years after, his country should honor him. But because he ceased to serve in that armed rebellion he is not worthy of honor.

The congressman should stay away from the movies. GEORGE H. WILLETT.

A TRIBUTE TO BENNETT.

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 28.—All at Notre Dame join with me in extending to you deep sympathy in the death of James O'Donnell Bennett, outstanding Christian gentleman and brilliant writer, who portrayed in his life the finest ideal of journalism. May his noble soul rest in peace. REV. HUGH O'DONNELL, President, University of Notre Dame.

ESTATE APPRAISAL.

Elkhorn, Wis., March 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—The matter concerns the carrying out of the terms of a will in which all real and personal property is to be divided between three sons, the eldest of whom is appointed executor.

1. Must all property, real and personal, be appraised? Must clothing worn by the deceased be included in the appraisal, and furniture that has not been in use but was to be given away at some time? Also old pieces of jewelry carried down from ancestors who wore such?

2. Where the will, drawn up legally, properly signed and witnessed, prescribes an even division of all property, real and personal, after just debts have been paid, is it necessary that probate proceedings be instituted, and if so, at once, or within a prescribed period? And this where there is no intent to sell at this time any property?

3. Is there a state or, and, federal exemption in consideration of the appraised value of all property? If so, can you state what it is in Wisconsin? And above this exemption what is the tax levy?

4. Are the attorney's fee and the executor's fee based on the appraised value, and if so, what is the percentage in each case?

5. Does the fact that a will is properly drawn in all respects, and not probated, affect the carrying out of the will by the executor? In other words, must a will be probated before its provisions can be carried out by the executor?

6. In this case is any legal assistance necessary?

7. The reason I ask the above questions is the fact the size of the estate is such that it could not stand large legal fees, probate fees, etc. A. R. S.

1. The appraisal can be a perfunctory affair if the estate is solvent and all of the beneficiaries are in agreement. The motives for your question are not clear to us.

2. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title to real estate. If you do not intend to sell, and if you can get possession of the personal property, then it is not clear that probate is necessary, but we would advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.

3. There are exemptions from the state inheritance tax and the federal estate tax, if that is what you mean to ask.

4. The fees would depend on the services rendered and on other facts that are not before us.

5. It is possible in some cases to carry out a will without probating it, if that is what you mean to ask.

6. In general, we would advise the employment of an attorney in either case.

7. We could advise to better advantage if you had specifically stated the amount.

TODAY IN HISTORY

March 11, 1544.

Torquato Tasso, famous Italian Renaissance poet whose life was spotted with fits of madness, born at Sorrento. With his poetry he won fame while still in his teens, but it was his epic "Jerusalem Delivered" that assured him a prominent place in literary history. Work on it, however, impaired his health. He was awarded the famous garland of bays, just for Petrarch, but he died shortly before the presentation ceremony in Rome.

ONE CHILD IN FOUR FACES DEATH OR INJURY IN CRASH

Auto Accident Figures for Chicago Revealed.

One of every four Chicago children can expect to be killed or injured in an auto accident before reaching the age of 21 years. This grim warning is contained in the annual report of the city council committee on traffic and public safety made public by Chairman George D. Kells [28th].

The report says 19.5 persons were killed and 635 seriously injured in auto accident during 1939 for each hundred thousand of the city's population. Deaths totaling 696 and 22,597 serious injuries were recorded last year as against 1938 figures of 671 fatalities and 20,719 injured.

The report says that while the Chicago death rate seems low as compared with the Illinois rate outside Chicago of 34.3 per 100,000 Chicago compares unfavorably with other American cities of comparable size.

Few Children Killed.

Perhaps the one bright spot in the picture is that the safety education program in the schools has brought a lowered accident rate among school children. Of the 696 deaths, only 79 were those of children. Since 508 of the persons killed were pedestrians, the report concludes that "an extensive educational campaign must be conducted against jaywalking."

"Some of the most dangerous intersections in the city, from the standpoint of accidents and fatalities, are controled by modern traffic signals," the report states. "This indicates that disobedience of traffic regulations and lack of courtesy in the use of public streets are still predominant factors in our accident rate."

Higher Speeds Peril Life.

The committee also found that, contrary to general belief, both traffic signals and widened streets increased rather than lowered the number of accidents in many cases. Both wider streets and lights, the report says, often lead to higher speeds and more danger to pedestrians and other motorists.

Of the 696 persons killed, 481 were male adults and 136 female adults. Of those under 16 years of age 52 were boys and 27 were girls.

HAYMARKET RIOT SURVIVOR TO BE 93 ON WEDNESDAY

George W. Roycraft, oldest of the three police survivors of the Haymarket riot in 1886, will celebrate his 93d birthday Wednesday at a party in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Sampson, 2642 North Spaulding avenue. Mr. Roycraft lives with another daughter, Miss Frances Roycraft, at 3304 Schubert avenue. His two daughters, five grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren will attend the dinner and party.

George W. Roycraft.

Roycraft was born in Ireland and joined the police force in 1873. He served until 1918.

The other two survivors of the riot are Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell of Oak Park, who will celebrate his 82d birthday May 20, and Herman F. Kruger, 4449 North Christiana avenue, who will be 82 next Dec. 19. Kruger was wounded in the knee during the riot.

3D WIFE KISSES DOCTOR CLEARED OF SLAYING 2D

Los Angeles, Cal., March 10 (AP).—Dr. George K. Dazey is free of a murder charge filed against him four years after the death of his second wife, Doris.

A jury acquitted the Santa Monica physician last night after deliberating four days. The verdict upheld the decision of a coroner's jury that Mrs. Dazey committed suicide Oct. 3, 1935, by inhaling carbon monoxide gas in the family garage.

Calmest man in the courtroom when the jury reported was the defendant.

"I am happy, but I cannot say I am surprised," he said as his present wife, Mrs. Dorcas Dazey, rushed up to kiss him. "Now I want to return to my practice, my home, and my son."

10 NEWLYWEDS SETTLE DOWN IN TROPICAL EDEN

Honeymoon Island, Fla., March 10 (AP).—Five newly wedded couples from various parts of the United States finally got to this tropical honeymoon spot in the Gulf of Mexico today to begin married life in a Garden of Eden setting with cinderella trimmings.

Isolation from the mainland—half an hour away by speed boat—assured privacy for the new little connubial community of 10 thatched huts surrounding a recreation center, a king's palace and bath houses.

Among those registering on a big heart-shaped bulletin board were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Poulos of Chicago.

Clinton M. Washburn, owner of the island, said the island will be open all summer for 10 couples for two weeks at a time. "The only requirements," he said, "are that they send their applications to me accompanied by two references and their pictures. Couples must have been married within 30 days prior to their visit to the island."

Navy Is Ahead in Color Race of Springtime

BY REA SEEGER.

Spring fashion lineup! Navy leading, with gray, green, and brown in that order. Navy with green, the current color attraction . . vivid emerald green a perfect crisp accent for navy dresses, suits, coats, and silk dress and wool coat ensemble. Navy blue straw hats are highlighted with emerald green . . . gay green linings appear in jackets and the same color is used for taffeta petticoats, bags, gloves, and even blouses and belts.

Silvery gray with brown is a runnerup for the blue and green combines. Thin wool costumes with stunning brown accessories, gloves, hats, bags, and shoes. The brown is a subtle shade like the bark of a tree and it goes with the first spring shades of light green just as effectively.

Spring outfits in almond green, lettuce green, sage green, and the darker bronze greens are ready for contrast with deep browns, with the dark beige shades, and with the newest fashion excitement called "Balenciaga brown," which really is the old fawn color. This season will be remembered as the one that had all accessories in an exact match.

Spring suits are legion. There are young looking affairs with rib-hugging short jackets and flared skirts, dressmaker combines of dress and jacket; ensembles of dress and long fitted coat.

Even the precisely tailored suits can be found, but they're considerably softened in general outline, the details are the same. Braid trim manages to relieve the severity of most of the masculine cut suits.

Reefer and fitted-in-at-the-waistline daytime coats are winning approval everywhere. Full skirts with hip smoothness and defined waistlines are the spotlight stealers. Fine soft fabrics, flattery for every figureline, a certain American snap and swagger mark all of them . . . the ideal foundation coat for any well planned spring wardrobe.

Ozark Cure.

Little Noma was getting her 10 o'clock feeding in her play pen in the kitchen when some one knocked at the door. When I took the bottle away from her she stamped her foot petulantly, but winter visitors are too infrequent to be kept waiting. When the door was opened in walked Idavee Milton, one of the neighborhood glamor girls! Normally this would have occasioned no surprise. Idavee and I often discuss the styles in the mail order catalogs. But for many days word had come to us that Idavee was "bad off" with sore throat. In fact, we heard that the Miltons might have to call a doctor! This, at Jack's Forks, can be compared to city oxygen tents and blood transfusions. Definitely, last resorts. Dr. Farrell charges seven dollars a call this far back in the hills, and a person has to be mighty sick to spend that much. I started to exclaim over her miraculous recovery, but remembered in time that one never comes right to the point in the Ozarks.

• • •

While Idavee removed her wraps I resumed my feeding of little Noma, my fingers clamped tightly on the base of the nipple to keep her from sucking it off the bottle and choking herself. Idavee said it was a "turrible" chore to raise a lamb on the bottle, I agreed, but explained that Noma's mother, a thorobred Shropshire ewe, was unable to feed her, and lambs, like other babies, must have food! The feeding over, Noma, looking like an Easter cake covered with coconut, curled up on a feed bag and went to sleep.

As I crumbled the yolks of two hard boiled eggs for Annette, Marie, Cecile, Yvonne, and Emilie, who were waiting in a sweater-shrouded box behind the stove until the rest of their brothers and sisters hatched, the visitor and I discussed the relative merits of old hens and incubators. Still no mention of that recent illness.

• • •

I put a stick of wood into the cookstove to keep the beans baking in the oven and we went out to the barns to see the 20 frisky new lambs. I pointed out little Stormy Joe, born in the midst of a blizzard; little Al Fresco, born in the pasture when his mother took an ill timed walk to the old cabin site, and Orrena's new baby and granddaughter in adjoining maternity wards! (Orrena's babies always are daughters.) Idavee was properly complimentary and we went back into the house.

• • •

Over our teacups we talked of the winter, the longest and hardest any old time Ozarker can recall. Then we spoke of neighborhood illnesses, and at long last I could ask about her own amazing recovery.

"It was this-a-way," she explained. "I got plumb sick o' feelin' so porely. So yesterday I up and yanked that flannel rag offen my throat and went out and hefted the ax. And in no time a-tall I'd busted up a cord 'n' a half o' heatin' stove wood! And now I'm a-feelin' fine!"

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The original bottle would be priceless. The copy of it looks as if it should be, too, but the whole presentation is definitely inexpensive. The fragrance itself [this is not a perfume, but a liquid more on the order of a perfumed cologne] is a less concentrated translation of one of the finest perfumes we have. In this form it can be used as a daytime perfume or as a cologne would be.

The scent rather defies description. Merely to describe it as a floral blend would be to slight it. It's that and much more, beautifully rounded out and balanced, the kind of a fragrance that is neither too sweet nor too sharp.

The stopper of the unusual and striking bottle spreads out and down the sides in a transparent arc, the glass embellished with delicate figures and foliage in an intaglio design. It makes one of the most beautiful of bottles, and the contents live up to all expectations.

The price tag will floor you because the figure it bears is so low. This is one of those special beauty bargains that comes along once in a long time—and in this case it's offered by the perfumer as a pleasant way of celebrating a 25th anniversary. You'll be seeing it in many of the shops, and it will appeal to your eye, your pocketbook and your love of fine fragrances.

Good Morning!

Had a right good time for myself the other evening!

I went to the movies!

[With the family.] And, believe it or not, seeing a picture that I haven't seen before—with the folks—is a treat, because it happens so seldom.

Just happened to be glancing over the movie directory and there, at one of our neighborhood theaters were TWO movies that I hadn't reviewed. . . . "Let's GO!" I said—and go we did. AND saw one of the best detective comedy dramas that these eyes have ever gazed upon.

"Inspector Hornleigh on Holiday" is downright SLICK! It has everything! Unique and baffling yarn. Whiz of an actor in the title rôle, one of the funniest comedians you ever saw as main support, some of the finest character acting I have ever seen in minor parts, AND, my dears—SUCH direction!

The film has only one flaw—the extreme accents—both Scottish and English of the players. This often blurs your reception of the lines. But not so much as to interfere with your comprehension nor the realization that the dialog's GOOD!

The action is plausible for the most part and consistently absorbing. It deals with the adventures of Inspector Hornleigh and his Scotch sergeant, Bingham, who are pried away from a holiday at the seashore to investigate an insurance racket which has to do with the covert use of corpses from a London hospital.

I'm telling you, your hair stands right up on end, the while you laff and laff and laff. For Hornleigh is a droll and wily fox and Bingham, hapless but devoted, makes an awfully funny cats'-paw. Long, big-eyed, big-toothed, chap, bald as a goose egg in a long swath down the middle of his big head! Kinda lovable too, tho, do you know!

The audience—young and old LOVED it!

See you soon.

The campaign was a terrific flop, as some of us suggested it would be. . . . This year the movies drove home the point they failed to make a year ago by the simple expedient of making a series of great pictures. . . . Joe Moskowitz in town. . . . Eastman Kodak's Ted Curtis partying Jock Whitney and Dave Selznick. . . . The Bud Stotlers tossing a big party before leaving for the east. . . . Pat Ellis out with Henry Wilson. . . . Jacqueline Wells with Dave Warner. . . . June Deprez will miss Edgar Bergen more than any other local belle when he trains out to New York this p. m.

The rumors that Dave Selznick would give a big bonus to Margaret Mitchell, to whom he paid $50,000 for "Gone with the Wind," did not originate in Hollywood. . . . It appears that some one is trying to put Selznick on the spot. . . . Best guess at the moment is that Selznick and M. G. M., now that the issue has been posed, will get together and arrange some sort of bonus for her, just to prove that the age of chivalry has not passed.

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The United States commissioner offers him the governor's full pardon for all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade obstinate Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of his canyons. Sam accepts—on his own high terms of $35,000, in addition to full pardon. He knows the governor needs the railroad to get votes and Matt Drury's money to finance his next campaign. Sam then meets Drury and his spoiled but pretty young daughter, Celia, and persuades Drury to give him a job on Drury's ranch. Bales suggests that Sam double-cross the governor, go into partnership with him, get the title to the canyon, and hold up the railroad for a big price. Sam refuses and goes to work for Drury, but is told to use the name of Jim Melody so the other cowboys won't know who he is.

INSTALMENT VII.

KNOCKED OUT.

Sam grinned as Gates walked away. He was not grinning at the foreman, whom he liked instinctively, but at himself. In his boots was twelve thousand dollars—enough to buy a small spread. Yet it had to be earned. It wasn't quite clear to him how shoveling manure into a wagon was going to earn it, but he might find out.

He harnessed the grays, drove them over to the wagon, hitched them up, let down the corral gates, and put the wagon inside. He had a fork and a shovel, and there was the manure, so he got to work, whistling idly to himself and making friends with whatever horses came over to watch him.

He heard the man first and looked up to see a slim, weather-tanned young puncher throw his saddle and blanket over the corral fence. He climbed over then, his rope in his hand. Once on the ground he took a careful look at Sam.

"Who are you?" he asked.

Sam straightened up and looked at him just as carefully. He noticed particularly the sulky face, the flat and rope muscled shoulders, and the pair of fancy boots.

"Jim Melody," he said, and added in explanation, "new hand."

Sam's eyes narrowed. Was this the first sample of rawhiding that a new hand always got? He reflected a moment and decided that it wasn't. A man couldn't rope a horse that was circling a team and a wagon load of manure. The request was reasonable—only it hadn't been a request. He only nodded, however, and said, "Watch the gate."

The puncher went over and opened the gate and Sam drove out, afterward climbing back on the corral poles to watch. He rolled a cigaret with his small hands, grateful for the intermission.

The puncher singled out a long-legged, blaze-faced chestnut, who was as wild as a Halloween night, and made a rope cast. The chestnut dodged it easily and the remuda started to mill, bunching and then circling.

Sam observed that the puncher was not in a pleasant mood. There are two ways of cursing a horse, one pleasantly, the other meaningly, and the puncher was going at it the meaning way. Sam's attention was sharpened as the puncher made his second cast. By merely looking at the horses Sam knew that this was no game. The horse was afraid, and he was doing his best to escape the rope. The second cast missed, and again the puncher swore. The third time he shook out his rope and went at it more carefully. He singled out the horse, crowded him and passed up two chances for a throw. The third time the chestnut made the mistake of trying to cut back when it was too late.

The rope snaked out, circled his neck, and was drawn taut. The puncher raced for the snubbing post, took a dally, and then watched the horse. The chestnut was fighting with all his might and the puncher waited until he was choked down. Then he started to walk toward him. At sight of the approaching man the horse made a lunge for him, reared, and struck out. The puncher easily dodged, stepped back to the post, and stood there cursing the trembling horse in a voice choked with rage.

Suddenly he took a couple of extra turns around the snubbing post, dropped his rope and ran for the far side of the corral. Sam watched while he walked up to a length of heavy chain, yanked it down, and started back for the horse. It was easy to see what was going to happen.

"Easy, fella'," Sam called.

The puncher stopped, glaring at him. "I'm goin' to beat the everlasting hell out of that nag if I break this chain. You stay out of it!"

Sam slipped down off the top pole, dropped his cigaret, pulled up his belt and walked over to the puncher. "If you want to ride that horse I'll help you break him."

"Get out of the way!"

"As soon as you put that chain down!"

They were facing each other now, Sam between the horse and the puncher. A good six inches shorter than the puncher and 20 pounds lighter Sam stood there barring his way, the look on his face wary and insolent and angry, now.

The puncher studied him carefully and then sneered, "I've never beat up a kid yet. If you don't move I'll begin."

"Just drop the chain and you won't have to," Sam drawled.

Sam reached out and slapped back harder. "I don't think so."

The puncher dropped his chain and did not even bother to square off. He took a swing at Sam, who ducked quickly and threw a stiff punch into the taller man's midriff, rocking him back on his heels. The second of surprise reflected on the puncher's face was now washed out by anger. He lunged at Sam, arms flailing.

Sam knew that he would have to stay away from him, being the lighter man. He dodged and weaved, giving ground, until with a wild swing the puncher was open and off balance. Like a skittering dust-devil, Sam was inside his guard. A right and a left to the head straightened the puncher up, and a smoking uppercut drove him back. And still Sam followed, throwing in hard close punches, driving the bigger man back step by step until his back was brought up against the corral poles.

He hunched there, his arms over his face, and Sam dropped his guard, blowing hard. Immediately the puncher exploded at him. A solid right landed on Sam's jaw and he took three steps backward, lost his balance, and sprawled on his back—squarely between the legs of the trembling chestnut.

It was as if the horse somehow understood that this small man was fighting for him, for he did not move. Sam scrambled to his feet, his head whirling, and put out a steadying hand on the horse's neck. Still the chestnut did not flinch.

The puncher, mouth and nose bleeding and one eye already purple and swollen, came at him. This time Sam gave ground, covering up, letting the wild blows glance off his arms and his lowered head.

It was when his head was lowered inside his guard that he saw the kick coming. It caught him in the thigh, half turned to avoid it. A red curtain of anger seemed to mount before his eyes as he looked up at the puncher's face.

And then, casting caution to the winds, he started in. For a moment they stood toe to toe, slugging wildly, and then Sam, knowing he could not win in this kind of battle, ducked. A wild swing whistled over his head, leaving the puncher's side and front open. With all his hard-muscled weight Sam drove a blow at his heart. The puncher's guard came down with a grunt. Sam waited just that split second he needed to brace himself and then looped a right and a left to the puncher's shelving jaw.

The man sprawled on his back, groaned, rolled over on his side as if to get up, then rolled back and lay there, breathing quietly.

Sam looked up to see Gates and two punchers atop the corral poles. They regarded him with a curious expression until Gates said to the other two, "Well, what are you waiting for?"

They climbed over and approached the down puncher, kneeling beside him. "He's gonna' lose about 12 hours out of his life," one puncher observed, looking over at Gates.

"All right. Carry him out."

The two punchers looked at Sam with a kind of awed amusement. He wrapped a bandanna about his skinned knuckles and leaned back against the fence, dragging in great deep breaths of air.

Gates watched the two punchers carry off their burden, and then he turned to Sam.

"Well, son, if you'd thought a week you couldn't have used worse judgment."

"Why?" Sam asked.

"That's Steve Drury, the boss' son."

Sam looked at Gates a long moment and grinned. Gates grinned back and shook his head. "It's tough, all right, but I'll have to give you your time tonight. What was the trouble?"

Sam indicated the chestnut. "He was goin' to comb over that horse with a length of chain." The evidence was there for any one to see it—the rope still on the horse, the length of chain lying nearby in the clean corral floor.

Gates nodded grimly. "Instead of firin' you, I ought to thank you, son. A lot of us has wanted to do that for a long time."

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: 'Actions Speak Louder than Words

Stretching Is a Simple Way to Gain Poise

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We pause in our occupation with diets and chin bands, facials, and hairdos, to concentrate for one week, let's say, on things that have grown recently to have enormous beauty influence. Poise, ease, grace, and charm are the things to which we refer.

What is poise? Immediately the mind jumps to folk who are not poised, to the large army of fumblers, wrigglers, nerve-strung jittery people. Poise does mean getting rid of all superfluous gestures. But basically we would describe it as complete and easy control of those muscles by which you propel your body in movement. One does not jump into this controled poise without training.

We have gone ahead in this business of acquiring muscle control. For example, the principle of making children stand up straight now is to give them the muscle strengthening exercise that will make standing up straight possible. The whack on the back with the commonly heard injunction, "straighten up," no longer is deemed constructive training. So, with poise. It begins with a certain amount of training of muscles before the mental outlook becomes of a piece with the disciplined body.

For such training we can think of no better form of exercise than stretching, not only for prescribed periods morning and night, but for many occasions during the day when one can pull herself up with head in the clouds, so to speak, but with that pull from waist muscles up, and from waist muscles down. Almost anywhere one can just rise on the toes and give vent to a good tall-stretching pull. It is amazing what this exercise habit alone will do toward new poise and carriage.

Naturally, posture and carriage enter the scene right here, for one's poise is more surely measured by the manner of bodily carriage than by any other known measure. So, for today, the suggestion is enough that you stretch long and longer before you get out of bed. Once on the floor, stretch some more, this time bringing hands high overhead in their attempt to reach the stars. Then pause during the day 10 times, at least, and treat yourself to another stretch skyward.

Who says you can't serve breakfast cereals and griddle cakes in the same meal? You can. And you don't need to be feeding lumberjacks, either.

In the first place, there should be no real objection to the combination of a crisp, prepared cereal topped with fresh fruit, and a feathery member of the pancake tribe. But a better way to give the family their much needed whole grain cereals and still cater to their love of griddle cakes is to put the cereal inside the cakes. This is how it's done.

Cereal Griddle Cakes.

2 cups cold cooked cereal
1 tablespoon melted shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Place cereal in bowl and stir until free from lumps. Add melted shortening, sugar, salt, beaten egg, and milk. Add flour sifted with baking powder and beat well. The batter will be thick. Fry in large cakes on hot griddle.

Rice Griddle Cakes.

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups cooked rice
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated

Sift dry ingredients together. Add beaten egg yolks and rice to milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only enough to mix. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop from spoon onto hot, greased griddle.

Cornmeal Griddle Cakes.

1½ cups boiling water
1¾ cups milk
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoons soda
1½ tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Cook cornmeal in boiling water for five minutes. Cool and add milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients and beat together with cornmeal and milk. Beat egg and add. Add fat. Bake on hot griddle.

Hominy Griddle Cakes.

1 cup cooked hominy
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Chop hominy fine and add to sifted flour, baking powder, and salt. Add milk and melted shortening. Drop tablespoonful of batter on hot griddle for each cake. Bake as usual.

Wheat Shred Griddle Cakes.

1¾ cups milk
Biscuits of wheat shreds to make 1 cup, when crumbled, or 1 cup whole bran shreds
1½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1 tablespoon melted butter

Pour milk over the crumbled wheat shreds. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add eggs to bran mixture, then add sifted dry ingredients and blend. Add butter. Bake on hot greased griddle.

March 11, 1940.

A good day to start new things for the week. Get an early start. Those born on an 11 day are not normally aggressive and don't like to do things alone; but this year those born on this particular day should make every effort to stand alone in their decisions. They should assert themselves, take the initiative in business, and try to be original. This is an excellent year to break into new ground. Have the courage of your convictions. Next month is a good time to make changes. Expand in the summer and be prepared to take definite action in September.

Kiepura Stirs Big Audience at Relief Benefit

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Jan Kiepura, world famous Polish tenor, appeared at the Civic Opera house last night in a benefit concert sponsored by the Jewish Labor Committee of Chicago and designed to raise funds for the relief of victims of war and persecution in Europe. Assisting Mr. Kiepura were Eugenie Fichtenova, Czech violinist, and the Workmen's Circle chorus under Paul Held's direction.

The large audience responded to every aspect of Mr. Kiepura's stage personality—to his superbly rich and smooth natural voice, to the flaky lightness of his pianissimo and the stentorian power and confidence of his climaxes, to his obvious desire to please his listeners by giving his songs the benefit of every ounce of showmanship in his makeup.

He sang operatic airs and a smaller song or two. The enthusiasm of the audience would have permitted him to add half-a-dozen encores at the end of each group.

Miss Fichtenova strengthened the good impression she made at her American debut last month. Her playing was impassioned, yet it did not become unmusical. Those potent tone colorings and those headlong rhythmic effects were kept within reasonable bounds by an excellent artistic intelligence.

The chorus' singing of a variety of folk and art music was marked by precision and tonal beauty.

MARTINELLI AND STOCK

There met on the stage of Orchestra hall yesterday two men who have grown gray in the service of music but who appear together publicly only on rarest occasions. The reason is that both are specialists, and their fields lie far apart. The two men are Giovanni Martinelli, tenor of the Chicago and Metropolitan Opera companies, and Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

The occasion yesterday was the first of a series of three concerts by the Chicago Symphony orchestra and vocal soloists. Mr. Martinelli sang several operatic airs, the orchestra played a variety of light symphonic music.

The great tenor entered so whole heartedly into his music that he easily managed to infect his audience with the excitement of what he found there. He would lose himself in the woes of one operatic character after another—Chénier, Don José, Lionel, Canio, Cavaradossi, Mantua—and sing their music in such a way that listeners were compelled to believe in the importance of those woes. There was no resisting that sturdy, convinced voice and those powerful, torn-from-the-vitals phrases. Tumultuous applause punctuated the afternoon.

Mrs. Simms Gives 300 Wooded Acres as Girl Scout Camp

Rockford, Ill., March 10 [Special].—A 300 acre woodland tract on Rock river, 16 miles south of Rockford, has been presented by Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms to the Rockford council of Girl Scouts for use as a camping site. The tract, across the river from Rock River farms, Mrs. Simms' former home, is to be known as Camp Medill McCormick.

Plans for development of the site are being made by local and national Girl Scout officials. Safety and health measures and the location of buildings have been outlined by Dr. R. Alice Drought of Milwaukee, a camp engineer.

It is planned to make the camp a year round institution, with lodges which may be used for overnight stays in winter. The camp will be available to Girl Scouts of Ogle county as well as of Winnebago county.

The tract is a sanctuary for more than 150 deer and many red foxes, wolves, and raccoons. It includes 31 kinds of trees, 19 varieties of shrubs, and 17 kinds of wild flowers.

Martha Graham Adds Charm to Vigor in Dance

BY CECIL SMITH.

Something wonderful has happened to Martha Graham. Tho she has long been the most vigorous and scrupulous creative artist in the field of modern American dance, nobody would ever, up until now, have thought of calling her dancing ingratiating or charming or delightful. The Martha Graham we all knew until she and her group gave an epoch making recital in the Civic theater yesterday afternoon was a determined visionary, and, to the outward observer, decidedly grim.

At last she has decided, evidently, that she is entitled to get a little fun out of life. Whether or not this decision makes her happy I cannot say, but I can report with pleasure that the final curtain of "Every Soul Is a Circus," her new comic dance composition, was the signal for unanimous and continued applause from her audience, with quite a few cheers and whistles thrown in for good measure.

"Every Soul Is a Circus" is one of the few dance masterpieces composed in our time. Certainly no other group composition by Miss Graham is so complete a success, both in making its points plainly and forcefully, and in stating its material within so beautifully integrated and balanced a formal structure. Out of all Miss Graham's repertory, indeed, the only other composition I should dare unhesitatingly to call a masterpiece is the solo dance, "Frontier," which was also on yesterday's program.

A "silly woman" is the central figure of "Every Soul Is a Circus." The dance has no particularized story to tell, and it makes little use of purely pictorial pantomime. Its choreography is of the "non-representational" kind; that is to say, it consists entirely of funny movements, not of funny pictures or stories.

When I say funny I mean funny and not merely amusing or whimsical or gay. Until you have seen Miss Graham and Erick Hawkins in a broad burlesque of familiar adagio devices, or kidding the life out of a tango routine, you have missed the best belly laugh the contemporary dance affords.

The new dance is interestingly, if economically, costumed and provided with sets and properties. The girls in the group looked pretty for the first time, if I may say so frankly now that they have yielded to the artifices of theatrical makeup. Mercier Cunningham, a new, talented, and faun-like discovery of Miss Graham's, assisted the precise and capable Mr. Hawkins on the male side of the roster.

"Columbiad," another new dance somehow connected with Revolutionary poetry, seemed like a backward look to a period Miss Graham is now ready to leave behind. "American Document," with its interlocutor reading scissors-and-paste preachments drawn mostly from approved historical sources, still contains much excellent dancing, as it did at its première last year. But it is essentially a strained and self-conscious attempt to force the dance into the service of political oratory.

Sellar Bullards Arrive Today to Visit Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellar Bullard, who formerly lived in Highland Park, are arriving today from Santa Barbara, Cal., for the first stop of a trip to the east coast. Their youngest daughter and her husband, John Russell Holmes, have been living in Chicago since their marriage last year. After a week here, the Bullards will go to Cambridge, Mass., to visit another daughter and her husband, the Richard H. Howlands. The Bullards will spend another week here on their way back to California late this month.

Miss Mary Porter has arrived from her home in Manchester, Vt., to spend several weeks seeing the Chicago members of her family. She is at the Ambassador East hotel.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings left last week to spend four or five weeks in Augusta, Ga. Her daughter, Mrs. Curtis Munson, has a house in Aiken, S. C., this winter. Mrs. Munson will be there until May, when she will return to her home in Alberta, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Revell are leaving late this week for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they will be joined by their children, Miss Joan, who is at Dobbs Ferry, and Alex III., who is at the Hill school. The Revells will return after two weeks.

Petit Lundi Today to Be Tristan Bernard Comedy.

Only such accomplished linguists as Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr. and Miss Denyse Root could risk letting a vacation in Florida interrupt their study of rôles in a French play. Mrs. Harvey and Miss Root, who just have returned from the south, are taking part in a Petit Lundi which will be presented at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Goodman Studio theater. Capt. William H. Waters and William H. Hawkins will complete the cast. Proceeds from the play, "Les Petites Curieuses," a three act comedy by Tristan Bernard, will go to charity.

Dr. Jerome Kerwin will lecture on "The Significance of World Events" at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club. Dr. Kerwin is head of the department of political economy at the University of Chicago. The lecture is sponsored by the Chapel guild of the Cenacle.

Miss Frances Whedon will open her home on Banks street at 10:45 o'clock this morning for a meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters. Mrs. Will F. Lyon, chairman of elections of the Cook County league, will speak on "What the League Can Do in the Coming Election."

Miss Isabel Fiske of 406 Lee street, Evanston, is opening her home at 2 o'clock this afternoon for a bimonthly sewing meeting of the Service league of the Evanston Infant Welfare. Tickets for the league's roller skating benefit, to be held April 24 at Riverview park, will be distributed among members.

Miss Jennings attended the Conservatory of Music of Ward-Belmont college and the University of Wisconsin. Prof. Burleigh studied under Emile Sauret, Anton Witek, and Leopold Auer, and received an honorary doctorate in music from the American Conservatory in 1937. The wedding will take place in May.

Nibbling Bad for a Child's Meal Habits

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My nephew and niece come to dine with us often, but rarely do they eat what I call a real meal. When I mention it, their mother always says: 'I know. They do that at home. They never have any appetite.' My own children are not like that and I never could understand it until I went to visit at their home this winter and then I found the reason. Between meals they eat candy and cake and any other sweets they can get hold of."

Many a doctor, digging around for the cause of a little patient's lack of appetite, comes upon this fact reluctantly admitted by the mother.

It is a logical and vicious circle that if a child nibbles crackers and sweets he will not be hungry when he reaches the table. If he does not eat properly then, of course, he will be hungry a couple of hours later on. What is required to break this up is quiet refusal to indulge a child in this way, until finally his hunger is felt and satisfied at meal times.

One comment I must add, tho. By nibbling and eating sweets between meals I do not refer to things such as the mid morning milk that young children often need, or the nourishing after school snack that our active "in-betweens" often require to last them thru until the evening meal.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are times when it is manifestly impossible to fulfill a contract against perfect defense. In such unhappy moments the only expedient is to call upon the enemy for help. Needless to say, it will not be graciously extended, but, nevertheless, if declarer is subtle, he may induce an error that he can capitalize.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's two no trump response was, of course, unorthodox. It was an attempt to play the hand at a nine trick game contract while concealing the concentrated strength of the hand, the club suit. [Not bad strategy, by the way.] North had a close point to decide over the two no trump: whether to rebid his unrebiddable spade suit or raise the no trump with a singleton club. His actual bid was hardly open to criticism, since South might merely want to know that North had a five instead of a four card suit.

West opened his fourth highest heart and East's ace won. Declarer felt far from happy the moment he saw dummy's singleton club: that meant that the club suit could not be solid and, moreover, that it could not be established by the ordinary method of conceding a trick, since South had no sure outside entry in his hand. Obviously, to attempt the establishment of dummy's spade suit would be futile because the defenders meanwhile would be establishing their heart suit for three tricks. Therefore, when East made the highly persuasive shift to the club jack after winning the first trick, declarer played the five spot, praying for the suit's continuation. West played the three, but from East's viewpoint the deuce still was missing and West very easily might not have been able to spare a higher card than the three, particularly if he held A Q 3 2. East hardly could know that declarer was entryless except in clubs, and he could not be greatly censured for failing squarely into South's trap. He continued with the ten of clubs. Declarer won and rattled off three more club tricks. After that it was easy to establish one heart trick which, with the A K Q of diamonds and the ace of spades, fulfilled the contract.

HAWKS OUTROUGH LEAFS FOR 2 TO 1 VICTORY

THREE CUSHION TITLE TOURNEY TO OPEN TODAY

Thurnblad Is First Foe for Cochran.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Welker Cochran, the champ, and 10 gents who are willing and able to make him the ex-champ, today will get down to the business of opening the world series of three cushion billiards in Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash avenue. The tournament, first of a major league complexion to be held in these parts in more than three years, will continue thru April 4, by which date 110 matches will have been played.

Cochran, the San Franciscan who has held the championship three times, winning it in his debut tournament, 1933, will be given no champion's late entrance. He is scheduled to appear in the second afternoon match today, meeting Arthur Thurnblad, the Chicago draftsman who now registers from Kenosha, Wis. Their argument will follow the baptism in world competition of Arthur Rubin, 35 year old Jewish star from New York. It is quite a tough assignment Rubin has drawn in his first match, for his opponent is Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., he of the rubicund visage. Layton holds just about all the world records for three cushion stroking you would care to mention.

Two Matches Tonight.

Two matches will be played this evening. The first sends Jake Schaefer Jr., who learned his billiards as a kid in Chicago, against Otto Reiselt, former titleholder from Philadelphia. The second contest brings together Mr. Billiards himself—Willie Hoppe of New York—and 58 year old Tiff Denton of Kansas City.

All afternoon programs will begin at 1:30 p. m., except on Saturdays, Sundays, and Mondays, when three matches will be played instead of two, the first beginning at 1 p. m. All evening programs will open at 8 p. m.

First World Meet for Chamaco.

The three players who are idle today will get into action for the first time tomorrow. They are Allen Hall of Chicago, Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., and Joe Chamaco of Mexico City. None of the three ever has held the title, altho Hall and Bozeman each has finished as runner-up. Chamaco, like Rubin, is playing in his first world meet. Chamaco holds the national title, and claims a portion of the world championship on the grounds that Cochran did not compete in the lengthy national tournament last year. Chamaco will have two opportunities to do his stuff against Cochran personally, since each competitor must meet each of his 10 rivals twice before the schedule is completed.

The former holders of the championship competing are Hoppe, Layton, Denton, Reiselt, and Thurnblad.

Each match is scheduled for 50 points. After one player has scored 25 points, a five minute intermission will be called.

DON BUDGE WHIPS BILL TILDEN IN CHARITY MATCH

New York, March 10 (AP).—Don Budge tonight proved his tennis mastery over old Bill Tilden, 7-5, 6-2, before 5,500. The exhibition was held for the Finnish relief fund. Some of the crowd paid as much as $10 a seat for the privilege of getting a fleeting glimpse of the Tilden of old as he uncorked his famed cannonball service and made a few disapproving gesticulations at umpires' decisions—but most of all they saw the magnificent Budge unreel the dazzling brand of tennis that has made him the most feared figure on the world's courts.

In the first set with the games at 5-all, Budge cracked Tilden's service for four straight points and on his own serve crashed thru with three sizzling aces to win the last two games at love. The second set was all Budge; the tiring Tilden able to win only the first and the fifth games.

Prior to the feature, Fred Perry crushed Ellsworth Vines, 6-1, 6-4, and Bruce Barnes beat Berkley Bell in a one set match, 6-2.

Budge and Bell defeated Tilden and Vincent Richards, 6-3, 6-2, in a doubles match. Perry then defeated Budge in an unscheduled match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Blackhawks, who presently will meet the Toronto Maple Leafs in the second series of the Stanley Cup playoffs, last night held a pleasing preview of same by dealing the Leafs a 2 to 1 licking before 15,107 in Chicago Stadium.

The victory gave the Hawks the season edge in the eight regulation games between the two, with four decisions, three losses, and one tie in the National Hockey league.

So much for the won and lost records. Another mark was set last night, however, which presages for the playoffs another such bitter feud as distinguished the finals of two years ago, when the Hawks whipped the Leafs in the Stanley cup finals.

This Was for Keeps.

The battle last night was as strenuous and quarrelsome a game as Chicago hockey ever has seen. Twenty penalties were called, including eight majors. These latter grew out of four honest to goodness fist fights in which all gloves were shed. Twenty-three penalties were called in Saturday night's game between the two in Toronto, making a total of 43 misdemeanors in 27 hours.

Doug Bentley, the 135 pound rookie who has been the hero of one of the Hawks' best season finishes, scored the first goal in the 12th minute of the opening period on a long mashie shot following a pass from Elder John Gottselig. The same Gottselig, in the eighth minute of the final session, fed a neat pass to Cully Dahlstrom for the second Chicago score.

Goodman Deserved Shutout.

Paul Goodman of the Hawks turned in his best goalie job of the season and deserved his fifth shutout since joining the team in December, but with less than 10 minutes to go, Red Heron of the Leafs beat him.

Now for the summary of the pugilistic portion of the program. Referee Teddy Graham, old Blackhawk captain, was the third man in the ring for all bouts. Decisions [newspaper]:

SECOND PERIOD [8 minutes elapsed]—Joe Cooper, Hawks, pounded out a victory over Murph Chamberlain, Leafs. This duel had a very poor house, all other wings and defense men being at the opposite end of the ice.

Bill Gets the Nod.

SECOND PERIOD [8 minutes 45 seconds elapsed]—Bill MacKenzie, Hawks, scored a clean cut decision over Pep Kelly, Leafs.

SECOND PERIOD [8 minutes 45 seconds elapsed]—Cully Dahlstrom, Hawks, threw Wallie Stanowski, Leafs [1 fall]. This wrestling match was conducted in a ring adjoining the scene of the MacKenzie-Kelly bout.

MAJOR LEAGUERS BEAT COAST, 4-1, IN CHARITY GAME

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 10.—The Finnish relief fund picked up a few thousand dollars today and an assemblage of Pacific Coast league notables picked up a beating. The beating, not severe, but nevertheless a beating, was administered by an array of White Sox, Cubs, Pirates, and Athletics, who pooled their interests for the occasion and gave their All-Star enemy a 4 to 1 baseball lesson.

For box score purposes, the affair was more of a workout for the press box occupants than for the athletes who took turns giving their few minutes of effort before 9,753 spectators, who paid $7,952.05. No fewer than 29 major leaguers were sent in and out of the battle by Frankie Frisch, the Pirate manager, who bossed the winning combination. The Coast league array included 22 fellows, all of whom fielded well enough, but who had little luck trying to hit any of the nine big time pitchers who contributed an inning apiece.

Lyons First on Mound.

The big league nine man pitching staff started off with Ted Lyons, who, because of his numerous service stripes, was entitled to the honor. The Sox veteran yielded one hit, the beneficiary thereof being Ripper Collins, Cub alumnus. Later, there was one hit off Julio Bonetti, Cub rookie. Bob Klinger of the Pirates also yielded one safety. Two of the others were off Pirate John Gee, who is left handed as well as being a six foot nine inch human tower. The only other hit was made off Mace Brown, also of the Pirates. In between these fellows there were perfect innings in which the directing was done by Bill Lee, Claude Passeau, George Caster, and Thornton Lee.

The only error of the exhibition was a mistake by Luke Appling. He did it while Bill Lee of the Cubs was working, but the delegates wearing the latter uniforms didn't file a charge of intentional treachery on the part of a city rival. Appling, however, made amends for his miscue. He came thru with a single in the third, thus driving in the first of a pair of runs. The other pair came in the eighth, the result of hits by Pep Young, Arky Vaughan, and Ray Mueller, all Pirates.

Majors' Flurry Quiets.

The major league clique started serious operations as early as the second inning, but neglected to carry the job to a successful conclusion. Elburt Fletcher of the Pirates began the flurry by bouncing a single off the chest of Bill Cissell, one time $100,000 White Sox rookie. Eric McNair aimed a hopping single thru short. The sortie went no farther. Lloyd Waner of the Pirates slapped a double play grounder to Cissell and Al Simmons' response to a big hand from the crowd was a tall fly to Jo-Jo White, former Tiger, now with Seattle.

Before taking his turn on the mound Passeau did a pinch hitting act and proved able to open the two run scoring episode against Tony Freitas of Sacramento in the third. Passeau beat out a bunt which the Coast leaguers didn't anticipate. Augie Galan assisted with a single to left. The $45,000 Benny McCoy hit nothing more exciting than a lazy fly, but Appling came thru. He poked a single to right and Passeau scored. After a pop up had disposed of Gabby Hartnett, Fletcher singled to right to score Galan, but Appling failed in an effort to reach third on the hit.

Get Two Hits in Four Innings.

The picking was so lean for the Coast leaguers in the first four innings that they could fashion only two hits. They picked up one more safety in the fifth and with it a run off Klinger. The productive hit was a single with which Les Webber of Seattle opened the inning. The next item was a walk for White. Both men moved up on a bunt by Louie Stringer reported to have told them that nothing would be done about their petition and that any who were dissatisfied were at liberty to withdraw from the university.

Second Row in Two Years.

The showdown, if any, is expected to come when the players meet Bowser tomorrow afternoon. If there is a walkout, it will mark the second time within two years that the Panthers have been harassed by internal difficulties. The present sophomores threatened similar action when they were freshmen, refusing to pay tuition bills presented by the university on the grounds that they had been told this would not be necessary. They won their point when Dr. Weber agreed to cancel the bills.

Pitt's Frosh Threaten to Strike Today

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 10 [Special].—Whether the University of Pittsburgh has a freshman football strike on its hands will be known tomorrow, when Coach Charles Bowser calls the varsity squad for the first day of spring practice. Every member of the freshman team of last fall except one has signed a petition asking for certain grants from the athletic department and have intimated they will refuse to report unless they are satisfied.

In a four point ultimatum sent to Athletic Director James Hagan, the freshmen asked a reduction in the number of hours they are compelled to work to earn their scholarships, the cancelation of all past debts, free books, and compensation for time lost thru injury or illness.

The freshmen want their work program cut from 28 to 14 hours a week, with no reduction in their pay for the work—$48 a month. The freshmen contend that sophomores are required to work only 14 hours a week for their $48.

Reply Is Refused.

University officials have refused to recognize the demands as an organized effort. In the absence of Director Hagan, Dr. John Weber, secretary of the university, and Coach Bowser have said there was no difficulty. However, the freshmen set Saturday as the deadline for a reply, but none was forthcoming.

Hutchins Silent on Big 10 Break with U. of Chicago

If the University of Chicago is to make the next move in an attempt to patch up ruptured athletic relations with other Western conference members it won't be done immediately. At least that was the implication given last night by Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university.

Asked to comment on Saturday's action of Big Ten conference athletic directors in holding up future schedules with the Maroons, Dr. Hutchins said: "The university has no comment to make."

The conference directors, ending a two day meeting in Chicago, took exception to the statement of an "unknown" spokesman of the University of Chicago who claimed that "you can't play Big Ten football without being crooked as far as the league's rules are concerned." Thru Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, the directors asked that this statement be proved or retracted.

The unknown spokesman's statement was made soon after the University of Chicago, thru its board of trustees, announced its withdrawal from football. Chicago's action took place on Dec. 21, 1939.

Lawson Swimmers Win YMCA Title; 4 Marks Fall

Lawson scored 45 points to win the city senior men's Y. M. C. A. swimming championship yesterday in the Lawson pool. Lincoln-Belmont finished second with 33, Hyde Park third with 13, and South Chicago fourth with 9. Records were broken in the 120 yard medley relay, 160 yard free style relay, 100 yard free style, and 120 yard individual medley.

And in This Corner, Ladies and Gentlemen—

Chicago's Blackhawks and the Maple Leafs of Toronto last night put on one of the roughest battles in the history of Chicago hockey, but the Hawks included a couple of goals with their fighting and thus came out of the riotous evening with a 2 to 1 triumph. Types of Life.

And as he raised it gently from the ground
His wife, when searching thru his clothes that night,
Found the small glass, looked into it, and said:
"A woman's picture! Isn't she a fright!

Perhaps we laugh at this poor man and wife
Who did not know themselves for what they were;
Yet are they not symbolical of life—
Are not those folks exceptionally few

Home Run by Gordon Beats Cardinals, 8-7

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP).—A home run by Joe Gordon with one out and none on in the ninth inning provided the margin of an 8 to 7 victory for the New York Yankees today against the St. Louis Cardinals. This was the second hit the world champions were able to collect after the second inning, when they made five runs off Bob Bowman. The Cards, who had beaten the Yanks yesterday in the first of six games the two teams will play this spring, tallied a half dozen runs in the first four innings, but then slowed down.

CHICAGO BOXERS INCREASE TEMPO IN DRILLS TODAY

Prepare to Face New York Golden Glovers.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Intercity Golden Gloves squad will step up its pace during today's workout in the Illinois Athletic club's gymnasium. For the first time since training was resumed, the boys will be asked to box two three minute rounds. Yesterday and the day before they took things easy with one round of sparring and a bit of floor work. But now the matches with New York's Golden Gloves team are only one week away so Coach Johnny Behr is beginning to turn on the pressure.

One week from tonight a team of 16, picked from the squad now in training at the I. A. C., will take the ring in Madison Square Garden to fight the 16 best boxers of the Atlantic seaboard. Day by day thruout the week, intrasquad rivalry will increase in intensity as the boys go thru their sparring assignments, each with one eye on his opponent and the other on the coaches, hoping they'll see the good moves and miss the bad ones.

Seek 4th Straight Victory.

Every youngster on the squad is eager for a fighting assignment a week from tonight because he feels that this will be another year in which Chicago will turn out a winning intercity team. New York hasn't won since 1934, when the easterners scored a 9 to 7 victory. They tied in 1936 but every series since then has been won by Chicago. This season's squad is out to make it four in a row.

The boys have still another goal in sight beyond victory in the intercity matches. They're hoping to earn places on the International squad, which will meet the best fighters from Europe's neutral countries in Chicago Stadium on April 10. Chicago's boxing fans who were unable to obtain tickets to the recent Golden Gloves finals because of the early sellout, already have started a flow of orders for seats to the International bouts.

Annual Smelt Run Awaited by Fishermen

BY BOB BECKER.

Northern Illinois fishermen are awaiting the smelt runs that annually are so much fun for the outdoor fans who are able to be in Wisconsin and Michigan during the early part of April. The silvery smelts which inhabit Lake Michigan in countless numbers always stage a spawning run early in the spring, ascend many streams emptying into the big lake, and during this run may be caught by the bushel or barrel or whatever the fisherman wants to use.

Two northern Michigan communities already have set their dates for their smelt festivals. Escanaba, in the upper peninsula, announces that it will hold its three day party starting April 11 and ending the night of April 13. Banquets, parades, queen coronation ceremonies, fishing for everybody will be on the program of the three day celebration.

March Dates Set.

Boyne City, Mich., in the lower peninsula, will hold its celebration between March 25 and March 30. We haven't heard from Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., about their annual smelt party, which in former years has been held in early April. Oconto, Wis., also gets a good run of smelt and usually it's a little earlier than the one at Marinette.

Last year some Chicago fishermen were able to get a few smelt from Lake Michigan while fishing in the neighborhood of 98th street. The boys not only dipped smelt but also hooked them while fishing from breakwaters. Small minnows were used for bait.

Calls Smelt a Blessing.

We also found lake front fishermen getting smelt on hook and line around Waukegan. If Chicagoland had a clean river flowing into Lake Michigan there isn't much doubt but what we would have a first class spring run of these fish down here.

John Van Costen, in charge of the Great Lakes fisheries, believes that the smelt in Lake Michigan may be considered a blessing rather than a curse. He says that the millions of smelt in the lake have added a new source of food for residents of the state of Michigan and Wisconsin, and for fish of the Great Lakes area and a new source of revenue for the commercial fishermen. They also are a lot of fun for thousands of people during the spring spawning run. Last year 5,761,000 pounds of smelt were taken from Lake Michigan during the spawning runs.

WOMEN SHATTER THREE NATIONAL SWIM RECORDS

Miss Crlenkovich Keeps Diving Title.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 10 (AP).—Helen Crlenkovich of San Francisco broke one of three American records shattered in the national women's indoor swimming meet today and was the only champion to retain her title.

Miss Crlenkovich repeated in the 10 foot dive, accumulating an all-time high of 146.77 points in a superb display of springboard acrobatics.

Brenda Helser of Portland, Ore., 15 years old, dethroned Dorothy Leonard of Worcester, Mass., in the 220 yard free style by splashing to a new record of 2 minutes 30.3 seconds.

New Medley Relay Mark.

The third record went to the New York Women's Swimming association medley relay team, which set a new time of 3 minutes 28.6 seconds for the 300 yard event.

Miss Crlenkovich won the dive with ease as she surpassed the 144 point record she had established in last year's national meet in San Francisco.

Barbara Cook of Jeffersonville, Ind., took second place with 125.92; Ann Rose of Brooklyn was third with 119.32, Helen Brenner of Brooklyn fourth with 115.40, and Mary Patricia Fairbrother of Miami fifth with 112.87.

Mrs. Tullis Places Third.

Miss Helser led all the way to beat Miss Leonard by two yards in the 220. Her time displaced the 2:32.4 record set in April, 1936, in Los Angeles by Halina Tomska of Chicago. The former record holder, now Mrs. Tullis, finished third today, with Nancy Merki of Portland, Ore., fourth.

The New York relay team of Glorida Callen, Lorraine Fischer, and Elizabeth Ryan displaced its own record of 3:30 set in April, 1936, in Chicago. The Los Angeles Athletic club team of Edith Metridge, Esther Williams, and Virginia Hopkins, last year's winner, was beaten by five yards. Anne Cooney, Bernice Lindsay, and Joyce Macrae, representing the Multnomah A. C. of Portland, finished third.

Three 13 Year Old Winners.

Miss Leonard, despite her failure to win an event, captured the individual point trophy with 10 points.

The accent was on youth in the meet this year, since five of the champions were 16 years old or younger. Patty Aspinall of Indianapolis, 13, set a record of 3:10.1 in winning the 220 yard breast stroke yesterday. Nancy Merki of Portland, also 13, won the 440 yard free style, and a third 13 year old, Miss Fairbrother, took the three foot diving title.

Mrs. Tullis won the 100-yard free style, Lorraine Fischer of New York the 300 yard individual medley, Gloria Callen of New York the 100 yard back stroke, and the New York Women's Swimming association captured the 400 yard free style relay.

Spencer and M'Coy Meet on Marigold Card

Young Kid McCoy of Detroit and Gene Spencer of South Chicago, two of the most promising junior welterweight prospects in the game, will meet in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. McCoy is undefeated in 26 bouts, scoring 25 decisions and fighting one draw. After winning 24 consecutive fights the Detroit boxer went eight rounds to a draw against Willie Joyce of Gary in Marigold on Jan. 22. McCoy followed the draw with a triumph in eight rounds over Phil Saeli last Monday.

Spencer also conquered Saeli in an eight round encounter in Hammond Feb. 12.

Eddie Kozole, 1937 Chicago intercity Golden Gloves lightweight champion, who defeated Steve Souris in his Chicago debut as a professional last Feb. 26, will face Bobby McIntyre in an eight round secondary feature. A third match of eight rounds will bring together Cliff Coons, middleweight newcomer from Superior, Wis., and Al Tibbits. Contests of four rounds involve Pete Ferrand, South Chicago welterweight, and George Kontopolis, and Tony Yates, Minneapolis 147 pounder, and Ralph Guajardo.

Willie Reddish, Philadelphia heavyweight, opened boxing drills yesterday for a 10 round engagement against Lem Franklin in the Coliseum Thursday.

Gus Sonnenberg will meet Olaf Olson in the main event on the wrestling card tonight in White City arena. Olson will have a 38 pound pull in weights against the former Dartmouth football star.

Hans Schnabel will clash with Ede Virag, Hungarian heavyweight, in another match. Jack Conley and Rudy Kay are scheduled for thirty minutes. Bull Curly meets Phil Gruber, and Frank Welger will oppose Ken Fenlon in other matches.

Ben Brown, claimant of the southern middleweight championship, is being sought to oppose Tony Zale in Chicago Stadium March 29.

Milwaukeean Takes A.B.C. Singles Lead

Detroit, Mich., March 10 [Special].—While a large delegation of Chicago area teams were seeking modest squad prizes in the booster classification of the American Bowling Congress tournament over the week-end a few Milwaukee regular division bowlers gave an inkling of high scoring to come. Henry Halfman, 40 year old hosiery worker of the Badger city, took over the leadership of the individual standings with 682, a score good enough for fifth place in the finals last year. His games were 236, 264, and 182.

William Hutchins of Glenview, Ill., hit the highest single game to date, a 266 count, to reach 640 in the doubles. With 535 contributed by Mat Conrad, the pair reached second place in the two man standings on 1,175. John Merten and Cy Berd of Milwaukee topped the doubles with 1,196.

The Silver Seal Sodas from St. Louis' Classic league went into first place in the five-man standings with a 2,843 series. Overcoming a mediocre start of 867, the St. Louis quintet hit 943 in the second game and then pounded out the highest single game of the tournament, a 1,033, to relegate the 2,801 total of the Milwaukee Parkway Recreations to second place.

LOSERS WIN AND WINNERS LOSE IN STATE PREP PLAY

Finals in Champaign Will Clear Things Up.

LOWER BRACKET.

Moline vs. Casey, 4 p. m.
Hebron vs. Lewistown, 7 p. m.
Dundee vs. Rushville, 8 p. m.
Streator vs. Granite City, 9 p. m.

Officials: Stuart E. Le Gault, Chicago; R. H. Elliott, Danville; Milton S. Vaughn, Rockford; E. A. Marfell, Hillsboro.

Scorer: Jack Travnicek, Chicago. Timer—L. W. Peters, Pana. Statisticians—Walt Wessman, Oak Park; A. W. Willis, Batavia; Robert L. Ashley, Riverside.

All is topsy turvy today in Illinois high school basketball as the last 16 survivors from a record field of 898 teams attempt to appraise their chances in the 33d annual state tournament starting Thursday morning in the University of Illinois gymnasium in Champaign.

What supposedly is the "sweet 16" contains no end of bitterness, since seven of the remaining contenders, winners of sectional titles Saturday night, were beaten a week previously in regional tournaments. And five of these continue in the race altho their regional conquerors are out of the running. What's more, two of the 16 gained revenge in sectional finals for what happened in the regionals.

It's All Very Intricate.

It's all very baffling to the ordinary layman, or even to the ardent fan who might not understand the intricate procedure involved. The chances for such paradoxical circumstances were made possible due to the fact that the winners and runners-up in each of the 60 regionals qualified for 15 sectional meets last week, each getting a chance to start anew with a clean slate. And so evenly matched were teams in several areas that the inevitable percentage of reversals took place when the chips were down.

Regardless of this greatest upheaval in the history of the state race two contenders, however, are right happy about it all—Dundee and Beardstown. They happened to have such strong teams in areas packed with basketball dynamite that they and their regional conquerors, Hebron and Rushville, won four different sectionals. This quartet accounts for one-fourth of the select group that will fight it out in eight first round games Thursday, followed by the quarterfinals Friday, and the semifinals and finals Saturday.

Hebron Still Winning.

Hebron, still a David smiting one Goliath after another, dethroned Rockford, the 1939 state champion, 35 to 24, and also holds five other No. 1 distinctions, to wit: Smallest enrollment of the 16, with 101 students; smallest town represented, population 608; most games won, 30; best winning percentage, including only one loss; and only survivor from 504 schools of small enrollment required to start in district tournaments—preliminary ordeals within each region a week before the larger schools got into action. Flat Rock, in the same classification, got as far as a sectional final.

Dundee lost to Hebron in a regional final but went on to win the Elgin sectional by defeating two of the best teams in the Chicago area—Morton, Suburban league champion, and Glenbard, West Suburban conference winner. Beardstown lost to Rushville, 30 to 28, in an overtime regional final, but managed to win a sectional final from Peoria Manual in overtime, 26 to 25, while Beardstown was beating Camp Point, 35 to 26, in another.

Turning the Tables.

Centralia and Wood River, tho, have reason to believe that regional runners-up should be eliminated. Centralia beat Salem, 42 to 40, and Wood River defeated Granite City, 33 to 28, in regional finals. But when the same rivals met for sectional titles, Salem won, 46 to 37, and Granite City turned the tables, 36 to 22. There were three other instances in which regional and sectional finalists were the same, but the results also were the same.

In addition to Dundee, Beardstown, Salem and Granite City, other regional runners-up still in the race are Champaign, Herrin, and Taylorville. Crane Tech, joining the 15 sectional winners in the state meet as the Chicago champion, will oppose Champaign in the opening game of the tournament.

Bloom Township High of Chicago Heights, the only other entrant from the metropolitan area, also will oppose a regional runner-up when it meets Herrin at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Herrin lost to Marion in a regional final and then won a sectional final from Metropolis, 63 to 35, after the latter upset Marion the night before, 44 to 37.

Gaining its 20th victory in 23 games, Bloom rubbed out the aspirations of Bradley Saturday, 35 to 31, after the latter had won 31 out of 33 games.

WISCONSIN PREP FIVES ADVANCE TO FINAL ROUND

11 a. m.—Delavan vs. Rhinelander.

7 p. m.—Marshfield vs. Soldiers Grove.

I COULD SAY THAT I HAD A CASE OF AMNESIA AND AM STILL PRACTICALLY IN A DAZE. NO! THAT WON'T DO-

LOYOLA TOURNEY ORIGINATOR STILL IS NO. 1 ROOTER

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Ed Daley.

Thruout the nation there soon will be many jubilant youngsters making preparations to troop into Chicago for the annual National Catholic tournament, which opens in Loyola university gymnasium on March 27. Since 1924, when the meet was inaugurated, Daley has seen state championship quintets from all parts of the country come to Chicago to compete for the national title, and his enthusiasm remains as great as the day he saw the first national tournament 16 years ago.

Likes Loyola Best.

Daley has watched the outstanding sports spectacles during the last two decades, but the Loyola tournament still is the No. 1 event on his list. The meet, the only one of its kind in high school competition, annually attracts 32 of the nation's leading teams and in the 16 year old history of the tournament 34 states and the District of Columbia have sent representatives to Chicago in quest of the United States prep championship.

The achievements of two teams in the Loyola meet always will be remembered by Daley. They were St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., which was led to the 1926 championship by Earl Hendricks, and the St. Stanislaus team of Bay St. Louis, Miss., which had in its lineup two athletes whose names later made the nation's headlines—Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame football star, and Zeke Bonura, until two years ago first baseman for the Chicago White Sox and now the property of the New York Giants.

Recalls His Own Team.

However, Daley never will forget the exploits of his St. Ignatius squad which won the Chicago Catholic league title in the season of 1922-'23, and this band of sharpshooters played an important part in the founding of the national Catholic tournament. This quintet won 23 games that year, scoring 491 points, but it finally met defeat at the hands of Notre Dame's Corby hall squad, 20 to 17, in three overtime periods, in South Bend, Ind.

"That game at Notre Dame will never be forgotten," said Daley. "The Corby hall squad included in its lineup Elmer Layden, Chuck Collins, Adam Walsh, and Ed Hunzinger, all varsity football stars."

Daley was not satisfied with merely the Catholic league title for his great quintet. He sought other championships. He challenged Tilden Tech, winner of the Public School league, in the spring of 1923, but E. C. Delaporte, then director of physical education for the Chicago Public School league, refused to grant Tilden Tech permission to play the Catholic leaguers.

An Idea Is Born.

Disappointed, but not discouraged, Daley visited A. A. Stagg and sought to enter the national prep tournament at the University of Chicago. Stagg also refused. The team, composed of Ed Collins, who later enrolled at Notre Dame; Ben Kanaby, Jim Deegan, Bob Scott, Ed Wiatrack, and Frank Gilmore, now a lieutenant commander in the United States navy, disbanded.

A short time later, however, several conferences on the proposal of a national Catholic tournament were held. Sitting in these gatherings were Daley, the Rev. Joseph Thorning, S. J., of Loyola university; Roger J. Kiley, then Loyola football coach, and Leonard Sachs, Loyola basketball coach. It finally was decided to conduct a meet and in the winter of 1924, invitations were extended to 32 of the outstanding Catholic high school teams in the United States.

Platak and Martin Win Doubles Handball Title

Joe Platak and Dick Martin, playing together for the first time in preparation for the national tournament, won the Central A. A. U. doubles handball championship yesterday by defeating George Di Re and Bob Weiller, 21-5, 21-5, in the Madison Athletic club. Although Platak and Martin were the favorites the one sided scores surprised the galleryites. Lieut. Bob Quinn and John Stenson took third place by defeating Paddy and John Cannon, 21-10, 11-21, 21-10.

MAJOR LEAGUERS BEAT COAST, 4-1, IN CHARITY GAME

The major leaguers didn't produce the first extra base drive until the eighth inning, but nothing was lost by the delay. It netted them their second pair of runs. With one out, Young of the Pirates whacked a double off Rugger Ardizola, Hollywood hurler, down the third base line. Young scored when Vaughan singled to left. Vaughan took second on the throw-in, went to third on a single by Mueller, the Pirate catcher, and scored while Mueller was being forced on Joe Kuhel's infield tap.

Simmons Returns to Game.

The Pacific coast men got half of their hits in the last two innings, a pair of them off Gee in the eighth and one off Brown in the ninth. The latter was a drive to the fence, but Simmons, who started the game in right, vanished for a few innings, and turned up later as a left fielder, put on a little specialty by intercepting the ball on the rebound and rifling it to Young to nip the hitter, Sal Hernandez of the Angels going into second.

The White Sox's Pasadena camp, which was closed today so that Dykes' boys could aid the Finns either as actors or spectators, will be reopened tomorrow for the final stretch of training routine. There will be three days for such ordinary matters as muscle toughening and sharpening of batting eyes. On Thursday the barnstorming siege gets under way and open dates thereafter will be few and far between.

NORTHWEST CLUB WEIGHT LIFTERS TIE FOR TITLE

The Northwest Weight Lifting club and the Englewood Y. M. C. A. tied for the title with 15 points in the ninth annual Central A. A. U. weight lifting tournament yesterday in the Mid City Weight Lifting club. Aurora Y. M. C. A. was third with 11 points, followed by the German-American Athletic club with 7, and the Chicago Weight Lifting club with 6 points.

Frank Kay of the Chicago club broke three records in winning the 181 pound title. He totaled 790 pounds, 45 over his own A. A. U. record, snatched 245, 10 pounds over the mark, and jerked 305, 15 pounds over the previous standard. Kay also tied the press record with 240 pounds.

Erwin Roger of the Northwest club scored 755 to win the heavyweight title, 23 pounds better than the old mark. He also exceeded the old record of 225 in the press by 5 pounds. Roy Herman of the same club hoisted 310 pounds in the clean and jerk, 13 pounds over the former mark.

Cub Hopes Get Test Today as Bryant Pitches

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 10.—Clay Bryant tomorrow will give his arm a three inning test. This is a matter of considerable importance to those thousands who think that said arm, ailing in 1939, was the reason the Cubs did not win the National league pennant.

Clay, who will start for the Yannigans in the third intraclub game, has been working out well. He has been throwing regularly in batting practice with no ill effects. Pitching in competition is something different, however, even tho camp games scarcely can be called desperate competitions. No pitcher enjoys getting his ears pinned back in a camp game, despite the fact nothing is on the line and nothing reaches the record books.

Won Only Two in 1939.

Manager Gabby Hartnett is among those anxious to see the erstwhile speedballer in action. He has noted that Clay's spirit is definitely better than it was at any time last year. But he is not ready, on the basis of batting practice performances, to get steamed up on Bryant's potential 1940 National league victories until they show up in the team standings.

Last year Gabby gave Clay 20 victories thru wishful thinking. Clay won two games and pitched only 31 innings all last year. Of course he did a lot of pinch running for Gabby, but that didn't elate the boss man much.

Two Rookies to Pitch.

Sharing the Yannigan assignment will be Vance Page, who last year appeared in 27 games, winning seven and losing seven. Vance is 33 years old and feels, it is said, that 1940 will be a good year to assure major league employment to a riper old age.

Two newcomers will pitch for the regulars. Julio Bonetti, who led the Pacific Coast league last year by winning 20 games and losing 5 for Los Angeles, will start. Sharing the stint will be Ray Campbell, 20 year old Minneapolis native, who won 14 for Moline last year.

TONY WILLMAN IS WINNER OF MIDGET FEATURE

Tony Willman of Milwaukee, returning to competition last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory, won the 40 lap feature event in one of the most exciting races this season. Willman took the lead after Wally Zale, Harry MacQuinn, and Ray Richards tangled during the third lap. Zale, Erwin, and Richards collided on the straightaway on the 18th lap and Erwin was injured. Otto Hamberg rolled over during the running of the first consolation but escaped with slight injuries.

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee was second, Bob Muhlke of Evanston third, and Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park was fourth in the 40 lap race. The time was 9:17.82.

Dom DiMaggio Sprains Ankle in Collision

Tampa, Fla., March 10 (AP).—Outside of Paul Derringer, the Cincinnati Reds couldn't find the right pitcher today and the Boston Red Sox defeated them, 13 to 10. Derringer worked in his usual form, but Bucky Walters and three others did little to stop the American leaguers.

Trainer Win Green gave DiMaggio first aid and then sent him to St. Joseph's hospital. X-ray pictures proved no bones were broken, but DiMaggio will be sidelined for about two weeks by the sprain.

The mishap occurred as DiMaggio scored from second on a single by Ted Williams. Johnny Peacock, scoring from third, lumbered slowly to the plate and crashed into Bill Baker, Reds' catcher, who was waiting for the throw in by Dom's brother, Vihce DiMaggio, Cincinnati right fielder.

NELSON GETS 68 TO TIE MANGRUM IN GEORGIA GOLF

Thomasville, Ga., March 10 (AP).—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., national open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., today tied for the lead in the first round of the $3,000 Thomasville open golf tournament. Scoring 68s, four under par, for the opening 18 hole round of the 54 hole competition Nelson and Mangrum held a one stroke lead over the field, with Herman Kaiser of Akron, O., third with 69. The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

While spectacular shots helped Nelson and Mangrum to share the lead, the national champion missed a putt of less than a foot at the 14th. Kaiser was victim of an unplayable lie that cost him two shots at the 7th hole.

Sammy Snead of Shawnee, Pa., who blew the National Open title last summer with an 8 on the last hole, fell victim of another disastrous 8 here, taking that number of strokes on the par 4 first hole and finishing with 76.

SILVER TRICK IS EXPOSED BY SEN. TOWNSEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The government is indirectly using silver to pay off obligations at 27 cents on the dollar, Senator John G. Townsend Jr. [R., Del.], ranking minority member of the senate banking and currency committee, said tonight in continuing his drive against treasury purchases of foreign silver.

Senator Alben W. Barkley causes delay.

Townsend has submitted a bill for immediate cessation of the administration's policy of buying all foreign silver offered, as provided in the silver act of 1934. Townsend's bill would repeal this section of the act. The bill has been supported by the federal advisory council of the federal reserve system and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the reserve board.

Administration Stalls for Time.

The administration, however, is stalling for time in consideration of the bill by the full senate banking and currency committee since a subcommittee approved the bill several weeks ago. It appeared likely that the full committee would report the bill favorably, as Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley asked that the committee postpone action until the treasury has a chance to be heard. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau says that no invitation to appear has come from Senator R. F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], committee chairman and an ardent New Dealer.

Townsend said tonight that the silver certificates issued by the treasury are backed by 27 cents' worth of silver per dollar face value, and once issued to the foreign seller of silver or his agent must be accepted by the public in the liquidation of any debt, public or private.

Price Is Artificial.

"The so-called 'world price' of silver is 35 cents an ounce," said Townsend. "This is merely the artificial level at which the price is supported by the United States government thru the removal from the market of large quantities of silver.

"With silver at 35 cents an ounce, $1 will buy about 2.86 ounces of the metal. When the treasury buys silver it buys it with silver certificates. No budgetary appropriation is necessary. The silver 'pays for itself,' since by law the government makes it into good money. Against each $1 silver certificate, according to law, the treasury must set aside about three-fourths of an ounce of silver [0.7733 ounce]. At the 'world market price,' three-fourths of an ounce of silver is 'worth' only 27 cents."

WHEAT NEEDS FINE WEATHER FOR FAIR CROP

434 Million Bushels Present Prospect.

Better than average weather conditions will be required during the rest of the growing season for the world's wheat crop to make even an average yield, according to estimates by Nat C. Murray, crop expert for Jackson & Curtis. He said yesterday that based on the present outlook the American winter wheat crop promises to yield about 434 million bushels, compared with 565 million bushels harvested in 1939, making the new crop the smallest since 1933.

The last winter was unusually severe in Europe, causing perhaps six million acres to be abandoned, Murray said. The prospects of North America raising a large spring wheat crop are minimized by a deficiency in subsoil moisture, he added.

Prices Are Erratic.

Price movements were erratic in North American wheat markets last week, altho prices averaged higher despite reports that the condition of the crop in the west and southwest was much better than on Dec. 1. Crop experts asserted the abandoned acreage cannot be determined for several weeks.

Harvesting of the new Argentine corn crop is making rapid progress, with about 400,000 bushels already shipped to Europe. Based on average yields per acre, Chicago experts assert Argentina may harvest 500 million bushels or more this season, establishing a new production record.

Both American and Argentine corn costs the European consumer about $1.20 a bushel as the result of high ocean freight rates. It is estimated that Argentine farmers are receiving less than 30 cents a bushel.

Speculative interest in the corn market is at a minimum, with the May future on the Chicago Board of Trade holding at 56 to 57 cents.

Heavy 1940 Export of Steel Indicated by Early Figures

Possibility that 1940 may bring the heaviest export movement of steel in more than 20 years was reported yesterday in the weekly summary of the magazine Steel. January exports, the publication said, totaled 396,064 tons compared with 134,783 a year ago and 244,933 last September.

"Should exports maintain the December-January average," Steel asserted, "total 1940 shipments would be 4,750,000 tons. This would be the heaviest since 1918 with 5,373,000 tons. The 1939 total was 2,500,000 tons.

Meanwhile export markets continue to provide a sizable share of current steel bookings, and foreign business in most steel products has been sustained at the improved volume recorded earlier in the year.

Situation Little Changed.

The domestic steel situation, however, has changed little in the last week. Recent announcements that current prices on iron and steel products would be extended into the second quarter of the year were taken for granted by steel buyers, and have had little effect on the market, Steel said.

The nation's rate of production declined two points last week to 63.5 per cent of theoretical ingot capacity, matching the rate prevailing immediately before the outbreak of the European war.

Altho automobile manufacturers have placed substantial orders in recent weeks, comparatively small additional buying is in prospect. Motor car assemblies increased to 103,560 units last week, a gain of 2,705, and the highest figure since late January.

Award Ship Contracts.

The navy, Steel said, has awarded contracts for two light cruisers requiring 4,500 tons of plates and 1,200 tons of shapes. Prospective shipbuilding includes six oil tankers which will require 24,000 tons of plates.

Chicago's production rate advanced a point to 60 per cent. Other increases in production were reported at Cleveland, Youngstown, St. Louis, and New England. Decreases were scheduled at Detroit, Birmingham, Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Buffalo, Cincinnati, and eastern Pennsylvania.

Container Corp. Net Profit $1,448,900.

Container Corporation of America and McGraw Electric company, Chicago enterprises, yesterday reported marked increases in their net profit for 1939 over 1938. American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation announced that it had turned a net loss of $424,076 in 1938 into a consolidated income of $3,712,193, or 34 cents a share, last year.

Walter F. Paepcke.

Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container corporation, said that the consolidated net profit last year was $1,448,900, or $1.85 a share, compared with $29,470, or 4 cents a share in 1938. The electric company listed net profit at $1,413,182, or $2.99 a share, against $891,858, or $1.88 a share in 1938.

Bank Loans to Pay Bonds.

The board of directors, the report said, has approved a five year bank loan of $5,000,000 to retire all outstanding first mortgage bonds and debentures of the company. Under the agreement with the participating banks, the company will pay off $600,000 annually in monthly instalments.

Consolidated net sales for 1939 were $24,114,815, an increase over the previous year of 29 per cent in dollar volume and 28 per cent in units. Many new outlets for products were added.

"With present volume larger than a year ago," Paepcke said, "and with price levels substantially better, the immediate outlook is, of course, much improved compared with this time last year. The corporation's profit for the first two months of the year was $346,102 compared with

REDUCTIONS IN AUTO LIABILITY INSURANCE RATE EFFECTIVE TODAY

A reduction in automobile liability insurance rates, covering a majority of classifications for commercial cars, was announced in New York yesterday by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. The bureau is composed of 37 leading stock insurance companies doing business on a national basis.

The announcement said this is one of several changes made in a new manual which becomes effective today and which provides improved coverage on bodily injury and property damage applying both to private passenger and commercial cars.

The bureau has established a new classification for commercial cars, based on the accident record of operators, which puts certain types of vehicles in a group with a 10 per cent lower premium.

Hearings on State Trade Barriers Open March 18

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—The commerce department announced today that hearings on interstate trade barrier problems would be opened March 18 before the monopoly committee.

CHARGES BLUFF DELAYS ACTION ON LABOR BILL

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Representative Hoffman [R., Mich.] declared today the house could revise the disputed Wagner labor act within a week if a majority would sign a petition to force amending legislation out of committee and into position for house debate and vote.

"So-called labor leaders" who "bluffed congress by threats of political reprisals" are to blame for delay thus far, Hoffman asserted.

One of the most persistent critics of the labor relations board, which administers the Wagner act, Hoffman indorsed the 17 point program recommended by a special house committee for amending the act altho he said it failed to deal with several "vital points."

Display Scales So Delicate They Weigh Your Signature

Jewelers' scales which are so delicate that they can measure the weight of a signature written in ink on a sheet of paper are among more than 100 types of weighing devices on exhibit at the eighth annual convention of the Illinois Weights and Measures association in the Hotel Sherman. Five hundred weights and measures experts are attending the convention.

MAKE 25,000 NEW COMPOUNDS IN CHEMISTRY FIELD

New York, March 10 [Special].—Approximately 25,000 new chemical compounds were made last year by organic chemists of the world, the American Chemical society reported today. This is a gain of 6 per cent over 1938 work. Biochemistry, basis of major advances in industry and allied to the organic field, recorded a 5 per cent increase in activity.

The findings were announced by Prof. E. J. Crane of Ohio State university, editor of the publication Chemical Abstracts, in which the international science reporting system findings of the society are assembled. The society will hold its 99th meeting April 8 to 12 in Cincinnati.

"The remarkable element carbon, as manipulated by the hands of an increasing number of organic chemists," Crane said, "is tending to dominate both industrial and chemical research. We can be thankful that the dominance of prolific king carbon and its army of hundreds of thousands of compounds is principally benevolent."

HARD AND SOFT DRINKS.

From what I have seen of the earnings of the larger beverage companies they seem to be making money. How is Canada Dry doing? Has it made a come-back to prosperity levels?—F. G.

Answer: Earnings of Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., exceeded one million dollars in its latest fiscal year for the first time since 1931. This net profit, however, was far from the 1929 peak of $3,534,420.

Altho best known for its ginger ale, of which it is the leading domestic producer, Canada Dry also makes various other carbonated beverages and distributes as exclusive agent in this country a line of imported liquors and cordials.

Among the alcoholic drinks sold are Johnnie Walker Scotch whiskies, Nuyens cordials, John Power & Son Irish whisky, Daiquiri rum, Holloway's gin, and Cinsano Italian and French vermouths.

Sales of soft drinks contribute the larger portion of the firm's income, but substantial revenue is derived from distribution of the imported liquors. Fourteen plants i this country and four in Canada bottle Canada Dry's carbonated beverages.

Canada Dry was incorporated in Delaware in 1925. On Sept. 30, the end of the 1939 fiscal year, the company had no funded debt and had outstanding 615,157 shares of $5 par capital stock owned by approximately 6,000 stockholders.

	Sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1935	$ 9,187,000	$ 240,423	$ .47
1936	9,964,000	183,400	.36
1937	14,869,000	730,474	1.19
1938	14,933,000	691,381	1.12
1939	16,553,000	*1,156,704	1.88

*Before Canadian exchange adjustment. After allowing for adjustment net income would have been $1,088,776, or $1.77 a share.

Consolidated net income in the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1939, climbed to $327,573, equal to 53 cents a share, from $205,230 or 33 cents a share in the same quarter of 1938.

Canada Dry paid dividends on its capital stock in each year since 1925, except in 1936 and 1937. Dividends in 1935 totaled 45 cents a share; in 1938, 25 cents, and in 1939, 50 cents.

The company's balance sheet for Sept. 30, 1939, showed total assets of $12,797,777, of which $5,209,717 was current assets. Current liabilities were $1,209,863.

Easter Buying Boosts Retail Sales in Chicago

Early Easter buying and improved demand for other seasonal merchandise provided a stimulus to retail business in the Chicago area last week, the association of commerce reported yesterday. Wholesalers reported a satisfactory volume of business.

BUSINESS GAIN IS PREDICTED FOR MIDYEAR

New York, March 10 (AP).—Some experienced forecasters are predicting another business upswing starting in May. Both last year and in 1938, they recall, industrial expansion became noticeable around midyear after a previous advance had been digested.

The disposition to believe history may repeat this year is based partly on these trends:

[3] Well substantiated evidence that inventory accumulation by manufacturers and dealers has been moderate compared with the heavy stocking of shelves in 1936 and 1937.

[4] Expansion in exports of manufactured goods since the start of the war and prospects of more orders for certain types of fighting equipment, notably aircraft.

LAKE SHIPYARDS, PORTS ARE BUSY AS SEASON NEARS

Detroit, Mich., March 10 (AP).—Ice is breaking in channels of the Great Lakes, and another shipping season for America's great inland waterways is approaching.

Mariners say the new season will open "some time in April." The more optimistic among them say early in the month in view of a mild winter as far as lake conditions have been concerned.

Lake ports, meanwhile, are stirring. Shipyards are preparing. Fresh paint appears on vessels, and seamen are getting ready for another six or seven months' service.

In 1940 a new major port on the Great Lakes will be opened—a $1,500,000 development at Monroe, Mich. Once a muskrat swamp, a vast area has been equipped with a modern, cellular type dock, highways, and railway siding.

TRUST PROBE'S 'APPEASEMENT' PLAN OPPOSED

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Senator Nye [R., N. D.] said today the justice department had followed a "policy of appeasement" toward firms accused of antitrust violations by allowing the companies to agree in civil proceedings to the imposition of regulations rather than to press prosecution.

He made public a letter to Attorney General Jackson in which he said "many have earnestly hoped that, as you succeeded to the high office of attorney general," that policy would be discontinued.

Nye said that he "particularly opposed the consent decree agreements, in effect and pending, between your department and the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation and allied defendants."

Hardboard Trust Charged by Justice Department

Washington, D. C., Mar. 10 (AP).—The justice department, expanding its campaign against alleged restraints of trade in the building industry, charged today that 10 companies have monopolized the trade in hardboard, a composition board used in interior construction work. The charge was contained in a suit which Attorney General Jackson said would be entered tomorrow in the federal court for southern New York against the Masonite corporation and nine other companies.

Sweet Corn Sweeter.

March 10, 1940.

SWEETER sweet corn from improved hybrid strains and more palatable fresh vegetables as a result of better grading and handling are to be offered city consumers next summer by Cook county truck farmers. Plans for raising and marketing the superior products were the main topics at the 16th annual vegetable growers' schools held last week in various parts of the county.

The commercial vegetable growers in the county—there are approximately 1,200 of them—hope to sell more vegetables by offering better ones.

Better sweet corn than the public is used to getting is assured by growing hybrid strains that recently have been developed, the farmers say. It was the consensus at the meetings that virtually all the sweet corn grown in the county this year would be hybrid.

Yields Show Increase.

Tests made last year on various farms in the county showed that the hybrid strains produced much sweeter ears with more and plumper kernels than the old fashioned kinds of open pollinated sweet corn. Yields per acre also were higher.

John and Henry Benck of Worth, George De Vries of Evergreen Park, and Henry Eicholz and Al Grewe of Des Plaines were among the farmers who reported good results from hybrid sweet corn tests last year. Similar tests at the Du Page county farm during the last two years have shown hybrid strains of sweet corn superior to Golden Bantam, an open pollinated variety popular there for many years.

The commercial vegetable growers in Cook county hope to work out some group marketing plan for supplying consumers with vegetables of uniformly high quality. They think this can be done to mutual advantage by carefully grading the crops at the farms and offering only the best for sale.

Displays Spur Sales.

Many of the growers regularly sell vegetables at roadside stands and they swapped suggestions at the meetings for making these front yard vegetable stores more appealing to passing motorists. W. D. Linscott, who lives in Du Page county, told of his success in putting a bit of showmanship into the arrangement of novel displays at his stand just west of Addison. He said many people who merely stopped to look bought something before they left.

The vegetable growers' schools are sponsored each year by the farm bureau and the Cook County Truck Gardeners and Farmers' association. They are directed by extension men from the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois.

Among production problems studied this year were growing tomatoes from direct seedings instead of transplanting, dealing with the European corn borer which was found in northern Illinois for the first time last year, and providing organic fertilizers thru cover crops to be plowed under. The latter problem arose when livery stables virtually disappeared in Chicago, taking away the ample supply of stable manure formerly available to farmers in the county.

TWO BIG CHICAGO FIRMS REPORT EARNINGS GAINS

"Substantial increases in sales were enjoyed in each month thruout the year 1939, as compared with the same month of 1938," Max McGraw, president of the electric company, said. "The upward trend continues in 1940, with an increase in net sales for the first two months of approximately 34 per cent over the same period of 1939. With no surplus stocks in the hands of our distributors and dealers, the trend forms a basis for continued confidence in the future."

Regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents per share were paid thruout 1939, and an extra of 75 cents was disbursed Dec. 27 for a total of $1.75 a share.

McGraw Explains Policies.

"We believe that our policy of extreme caution in adopting new items or making changes in established lines has not only been of prime importance in our success," McGraw said, "but also that it is good insurance for future profits. The company's position in the industry continues to be at or next to the top on all of its important products."

The directors had decided, in the interest of a conservative policy, Henry M. Reed, chairman of American Radiator, told the stockholders, to eliminate from consolidated statements all foreign subsidiaries and to adjust the values at which investments in and advances to these subsidiaries are carried on the books.

These items have been reduced from $24,704,388 to $13,243,000, and $3,000,000 has been set aside as a reserve for war contingencies against these investments and advances, he said.

A CORRECTION

This was inaccurate, inasmuch as we failed to state that the 1938 model was priced higher than the advertised figure.
